BRITISH CAR DRIVER PILOTS BLUEBIRD TO NEW SPEED RECORD

Giant Car Thunders Down Daytona Beach Nearly Five Miles an Hour Faster Than Record of Two Years Ago—Has Narrow Escape When Auto Strikes Bump

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 7 (AP).—Sir Malcolm Campbell hatched his thunder-wagon to a streak of lightning today and roared down Daytona's golden sands to a new world automobile speed record—276.816 miles an hour. It was far short of the 300-mile goal he had set for himself and the seven-ton Bluebird, but it was 4.708 miles an hour swifter than the 272.108-mile average he traveled establishing the old mark here two years ago.

It was an unexpected sortie, result of a last-minute decision to wait no longer for the sands to smooth to the perfection needed for 300 miles an hour. The result left him happy, but slightly shaken from one narrow escape he had shortly after thundering through the measured mile on the return trip.

HAS CLOSE CALL

A bump there almost tore the steering wheel from his hands, sent the car careening high on the beach until the tires were just skimming the edge of the deadly soft sands. The fifty-year-old Englishman wrenched the wheel back, skidded to the safety of the hard sands, and was away to the end of the run and the new record.

"I haven't decided yet whether to stay and try to lift the record higher," Sir Malcolm said as he rode back down the beach in the 2500-horsepower monster, while 50,000, lining the eleven and a half miles, cheered the length of the way. He stood and stared in amazement.

TEN LOSE LIVES IN HEAVY BLAST

Premature Explosion of Charge Intended for Oil Well Is Terrific

ST. GEORGE, Utah, March 7 (AP).—A four-year search for the oil that might have fulfilled a prediction of Brigham Young that this southwestern Utah town would some day be the richest in the state, tonight had resulted in a toll of ten deaths, with another life hanging in the balance.

Six bodies of spectators at what was hoped might prove the bringing in of the section's first oil well were being prepared for funeral services. Bodies of four other victims had not been recovered, and it was feared they never would be.

BLOWN TO PIECES

They were blown to pieces by the tremendous explosion that rocked the countryside late last night, when six ten-foot cartridges of nitroglycerine and TNT exploded just as they were ready to be lowered into the well.

Surface property of the Arrowhead Petroleum Company, valued at $12,500, was completely destroyed. It included more than 1,500 pounds of powder stored nearby, which burned but did not explode.

SPECIALLY INVITED

More than fifty persons, invited to witness the charge that it was believed might bring in the flow of crude oil that the company and its predecessor, the Escalante Exploration Company, had been seeking since 1931, were crowded close about the well when the explosives were detonated.

They were thrown backward, tops were blown from automobiles and a sheet of flame shot upward, visible in St. George, eight miles away.

OFFICER SHOTS NEGRO TO DEATH

SPOKANE, Wash., March 7 (AP).—A transient Negro was shot dead and a policeman was slashed when today in a hand-to-hand struggle between the two in an outlying railway station.

C. D. Thompson, radio car officer who killed the Negro, was cut on a hand and stabbed in a shoulder by a pocket knife.

Police asserted a railway special officer called for aid after the Negro refused to leave the station. C. D. Thompson and another officer found him backed into a corner, knife in hand.

The Negro lunged without warning, slashing Thompson's hand, and the officer drew his gun. He fired once and the Negro struck again. Thompson said a second bullet crashed through the Negro's chest, and he pitched to the floor.

OTHER VISITS NOT DELAYED

Lord Privy Seal Will Go to Moscow and Warsaw Very Shortly

LONDON, March 7 (CP).—The Government today revealed that the hitherto in arrangements for an Anglo-German conference on European security proposals will not unduly delay talks on the same subject with the Governments of Russia and Poland.

Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, whose trip to Berlin, scheduled for today, was indefinitely postponed on request of Adolf Hitler, told the House of Commons that Anthony Eden, the Lord Privy Seal, would visit Moscow and Warsaw.

"After a visit to Berlin was arranged," he said, "we received intimations that a British ministerial visit to the Soviet Union and to Poland would subsequently be welcomed. The Government have replied they would be happy to accept this invitation and it is intended that these visits should be paid by the Lord Privy Seal."

NO COMPULSION

George Lansbury, Labor leader, immediately queried whether the Eastern European visits would be made before Sir John's own trip to Berlin eventually, or whether it was necessary to wait until after the Berlin visit is finally made.

"There is no compulsion about the matter of arrangement," the Foreign Secretary replied. "It was contemplated that after the visit to Berlin the other visits would take place. That may be the order of events."

The announcement that Captain Eden is being charged with the mission produced a highly favorable impression in official circles. It

Paving Way To Passage of Reform Act

LONDON, March 7 (CP).—In order to pave the way for an early measure of reform of the House of Lords, discussed for many months, the Upper Chamber tonight agreed that an address should be presented to the King, asking that the Royal prerogative may not stand in the way of consideration of such a measure.

The motion for the address was presented by Lord Rockley, and the bill, which it was suggested should be allowed full discussion, would include provision for creation of a limited number of life peerages.

Moves for Minimum Wages and Creation Of Economic Council

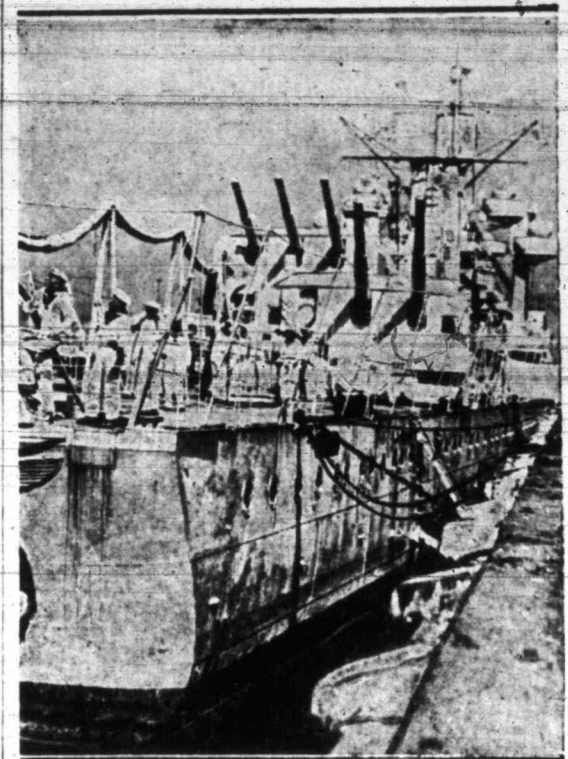

Two More Steps in Government's Reform Programme Taken in Notices of Motion Entered in Name of the Prime Minister

OTTAWA, March 7 (CP).—Two more steps looking toward implementation of the Government's reform programme were taken today. Notice of motion was given in the House of Commons for establishment of a national economic council. The second move concerned minimum wages.

Notice was given on the order paper that the Prime Minister will ask approval of a draft convention of the general conference of the International Labor organization at Geneva concerning creation of a minimum wage fixing machinery.

The notice of motion gave no details concerning the national economic council, but current reports state that it will resemble the National Research Council and will act in an advisory and co-ordination

Mass Meeting to Discuss Tourist Trade Next Week

Big Gathering Arranged for March 15 at Royal Victoria Theatre—Five-Year Plan to Be Fully Explained—Questions Sent in Before Meeting to Be Answered—McGeer to Speak

As a step towards consolidation of the movement in Greater Victoria, in keeping with organization work being accomplished in Up-Island centres in the unification of the whole of Vancouver Island for the return of better times, a great mass meeting will be held at the Royal Victoria Theatre next Friday night under the auspices of the Tourist Trade Development Association of Victoria and Vancouver Island. This "Back to Prosperity" mass meeting next week will be followed by a monster gathering at Nanaimo in April, which will be addressed by all the mayors and Reeves of the Island.

Importance of the tourist development movement as a medium of economic betterment will be stressed at the Royal Victoria Theatre meetings by G. G. McGeer, K.C., M.P.P., mayor of Vancouver, and by Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P.; Byron Johnson, M.P.P.; L. A. Hanna, M.P.P.; Norman Whitaker, M.P.P.; and Hugh Savage, representing Island constituencies.

Mayor Leeming will preside and he is asking Reeves William Crouch, of Saanich; Robert Mayhew, of Oak Bay, and Alex Lockley, of Esquimalt, to assist.

EXPLAIN PLAN

Mayor Leeming's five-year plan will be publicly explained for the first time by T. H. Bell, general secretary of the association. Mr. Bell, who has had a lifetime of experience in the business of the Board of Trade, was doubtful as to what form it should take.

DUKE OF MIRANDA DEAD

MADRID, March 7 (AP).—The Duke of Miranda, last chief of former King Alfonso's household, died yesterday. The duke accompanied Alfonso into exile following the Spanish revolution and worked with him and His Majesty's unofficial court in Fontainebleau.

PROBE WILL GO TO THE LIMIT

President of Board of Trade Promises Investigation Into Speculation

LONDON, March 7 (CP).—The Government tonight agreed with Labor suggestions that thorough investigation into recent commodity market speculations in tin, shellac and pepper would be a good thing, but Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, was doubtful as to what form it should take.

David Grenfell, who raised the issue on behalf of the Labor party with the declaration that sensational reports were damaging British business and credit, said the present probe by an official receiver of the failure of three commodity firms was not good enough.

Mr. Runciman replied that he was concerned, not with individuals, but with the fair name of the city (the financial centre). He considered an investigation was good, but was doubtful as to its form. He emphasized that wide powers are possessed by the official receiver, who could personally make the fullest investigation of the failures and of everything pertaining to their business.

PREMIER MUST TAKE HOLIDAY

Suffers Setback When Planning to Resume Duties—Further Rest Essential

OTTAWA, March 7 (CP).—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett will require a further period of rest before resuming work, according to an official statement issued today by the Government. The statement, given out by Rt. Hon. Sir George Perley, acting Government leader, was the first official bulletin on Mr. Bennett's illness.

"The Prime Minister's illness began on Sunday, February 24, with an acute respiratory tract infection. This followed a very busy week. He has been improving daily until this morning, when he suffered a setback. His general condition is improved this afternoon, but he will require further rest."

It is understood Mr. Bennett's medical advisers have urged him to take a long rest at some health resort as soon as he is sufficiently recovered to travel. He had planned to return to the House of Commons today.

Electric Worker Killed by Shock

VANCOUVER, March 7 (CP).—T. H. Wintle, twenty-six, B.C. Electric Co. employee, died shortly after he suffered a severe electric shock while he was reportedly cleaning an oil circuit-breaker in the company's Matsqui substation last night.

The company reported that, when circuit-breakers are being repaired, they are always disconnected. It was thought Wintle might have touched some other part of the machinery accidentally. There were no witnesses.

Japanese Planning Tunnel to Link Up Principal Islands

TOKIO, March 7 (AP).—Government plans for a tunnel under the mile-wide Shimono Strait, permitting a railway connection between Honshu and Kyushu, principal islands of Japan, were announced to the Diet today by Shinya Uchida, Minister of Railways.

The cost of the project was estimated at 31,000,000 yen (about $8,625,000).

ROWBOATS IN LONG BEACH

Lifeguards Are Ordered Out When Floods Engulf Section of City

LOS ANGELES, March 7 (AP).—Life guards were ordered out in rowboats in a low section of Long Beach as rain, snow and a slight earth shock visited Southern California today.

Although the rain in the present storm was not unusually heavy, homes of about 350 families between Peterson and Rose Avenues, near State Street, in Long Beach, were washed by about two feet of water.

"We have ordered the lifeboats into the area because of the numerous calls coming from persons there who found their homes surrounded by high water," Police Chief Joe McClelland, of Long Beach, said.

NO EVACUATION

None of the residents of the area, however, had planned at a late hour to evacuate their homes. The boats were used mostly by children returning from school.

With more rain forecast, life guards were ordered to remain in the section in case of an emergency.

Compton, Long Beach and Los Angeles reported a slight tremor at 12:17 p.m., although damage was confined to a few broken windows. The seismological laboratory at the Carnegie Institute of Washington, in Pasadena, however, did not register the shock.

STORM WRECKS TRAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7 (AP).—A train was wrecked and transportation schedules were slowed down today as the result of a heavy rain that stormed over California.

Even cars of a branch line freight train jumped the rails because of a washout two miles west of Schellville, in Sonoma County. Three of the cars were wrecked. No one was injured.

Because of weakened right-of-way banks near Arroyo, in Colusa County, the Southern Pacific Railway Company was forced to re-route its northbound Shasta and Cascade Limited last night.

Says Butter Is Smuggled Into States

TORONTO, March 8 (CP).—Shades of another day when rum-running trucks scurried into the United States with Canadian liquor have come back. The Mail and Empire, in a dispatch from its Ottawa correspondent, today says it is not rum-running but butter-running this time.

Bootleg sales of Canadian butter in the United States, the story says, have so depleted Canadian stores that the heavy surplus that has been troubling the Federal Department of Agriculture has disappeared.

Province Is Ravaged by Black Fever

HAICHOW, Kiangsu Province, China, March 7 (AP).—A baffling Oriental scourge—black fever—which comes from nowhere to wipe out whole villages, was ravaging large areas in this coastal province today.

As men and women medical missionaries rallied every resource to cope with the emergency, thousands were dying like flies for want of adequate hospital resources.

The disease affected an area of 25,000 square miles in which five million Chinese live.

NO CAUSE TO BE UNEASY

Chancellor of Exchequer Makes Reassuring Statement on Pound Sterling

LONDON, March 7 (CP).—Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons tonight it was impossible to try to stabilize the pound sterling on gold under the present circumstances. At the same time he strongly denied that the exchange equalization fund was being used for the purpose of depreciating sterling.

"There is absolutely nothing in the position of the pound which need give Britain a moment's uneasiness," he said. "The pound buys the same amount of goods internally as it did three years ago."

Chamberlain said he was unchanged in his view that there was no better international standard than gold, but he said the Government would not take steps to revert to the gold standard until conditions were so favorable that "having reverted, we are pretty certain of our ability to remain on it."

The Chancellor of the Exchequer said the exchange equalization fund was never used and never was intended for the purpose of deliberately forcing sterling up or down. He declined to explain how the fund had operated recently, saying publicity would destroy its value.

Vancouver Affairs Aired Before House And In Committees

Mayor G. G. McGeer, K.C., M.P.P., Puts in Full Day Explaining Position of Terminal City—Says Aid Imperative to Avert Collapse

VANCOUVER civic finances occupied a day before the Legislature and its committees yesterday, accompanied by a flood of opinions, at times contrary. Action was confined to progress with routine sections of amendments to the Vancouver Incorporation Act, under review before the private bills committee, and filing before that committee, briefs on the city's current finances and proposals looking to creation of a municipal bank.

Mayor G. G. McGeer, K.C., opposing a request of the Vancouver City Council for authority to increase business licence fees by $175,000, said this relief would be of no help. He stated the Bradshaw report, being made at the request of the bondholders, would be filed today, and gave it as his opinion the report would be unfavorable to proposals he had advanced to the bondholders as a means of amicable settlement.

ATHENS ITSELF APPARENTLY MENACED BY REBEL GREEK SEA FORCES, WHILE MACHINE GUNS RATTLE AND BIG GUNS ROAR AS BATTLE STARTS IN DEEP SNOW OF EASTERN MACEDONIA

British Battleship Drops Anchor in Port of Athens

HEVGHILLI, Yugoslavia, March 7.—A desperate battle between Greek loyal troops and fanatically zealous rebels got under way in the deep snows of Eastern Macedonia tonight to the accompaniment of chattering machine guns and deep-throated artillery.

As the rebel sea forces apparently menaced Athens itself, General George Kondylis sent his loyal troops through heavy drifts of snow at the rebels, entrenched in lines held by the British during the Great War.

Artillery and aerial bombardments, almost incessant during the last two days, had prepared the way for them, and Kondylis, his last ultimatum flung down to the insurgents, seemed determined to carry out his threat to crush the revolt.

ISLANDS SURRENDER

Earlier in the day the rebel fleet forced three Greek islands—Samos, Chios and Mytilene—to strike their colors, and reports reaching this frontier town said Admiral Demetrius, fleet commander, wirelessed the Greek Cabinet threatening to bombard Piraeus, Port of Athens, unless the Government surrenders.

So hard pressed was Premier P. T. Tsalderis and the Government at Athens, another report said, it was contemplating calling ex-King George back to his vacant throne.

First reports from the battlefield said the cold, frostbitten loyal army, spurred by Kondylis, advanced slightly in the face of desperate resistance.

General Demetrius Kamanos, the

ARCHBISHOP IN MEXICO SEIZED

Arrested After Conducting Religious Services and Confirmation Rites

MEXICO CITY, March 7 (AP).—The private secretary of Archbishop Pascual Diaz, Roman Catholic Primate of Mexico, said tonight the Archbishop was arrested today while on his way to the town of Tlaxcala, in Mexico Federal District. The secretary added he was unable to determine the whereabouts of Mr. Diaz, or to learn further details.

He was informed of the arrest, he said, in a telephone call from a servant who had accompanied the Archbishop.

Rumors spread about the city that the Archbishop had been put aboard an airplane and carried across the border into the United States, but there was no verification of them.

OFFICIALS KNOW NOTHING

Both the Attorney-General's office and the Federal District Police said they knew nothing of his arrest. The Department of Interior said it had not ordered the detention.

A truck driver told the Archbishop's secretary, Manuel Carreno, that between six and eight agents had taken Mr. Diaz, his chauffeur and a friend, into custody, on the road, near Cuautlan, a short way outside the capital.

Carreno said the Archbishop had left the city to attend religious services and perform confirmation rites and that he apparently was on his way home when arrested.

ANTI-WAR FILM SEEN AT OTTAWA

Distinguished Assemblage Views Picture Showing Tragic Futility of Conflict

OTTAWA, March 7 (CP).—Canada's legislators as the leaders of the nation, rising early from their law-making duties, proceeded en masse to view a motion picture, The Governor-General and Lady Beaubien, distinguished parliamentarians, representatives of church and state, crowded to witness the premiere showing of Canada's anti-war picture, "Last We Forget."

Sponsored by the Canadian Legion in an effort to portray the tragic futility of war and to bring home through the visible sense the stupidity and folly of armed conflict, the picture is a product of the Canadian Government Motion Picture Bureau, selected from the reservoir of film which, taken during the tragic years from 1914 to 1918, now rests in its custody.

ment at the racing cords on old Bluebird as he looked the car over in front of the time tower when it was all over. The smooth rubber surface of all six tires—two in front, four on back—was literally burned away. The casings hung in shreds, like strips of torn burlap. There were parts of the tires that were within a couple of plys of being torn away straight down to the inner tubes. Bluebird otherwise was undamaged.

"The run down was splendid," said Campbell as he posed for the cameramen, laughing and talking to Lady Campbell. She was blissful about it all, particularly since she herself forced him to give up an attempt that might have been suicidal in a forty-mile wind two days ago.

"TERRIFICALLY CLOSE" "But coming back," he said, "was simply terrible. The beach, through six miles at the south end, was very rough. I had to get up speed there."

TAX CHANGE IS UNLIKELY

Saanich Council Reviews First Draft of 1935 Estimates

A decrease in taxes on all cleared property, and no increase in the general tax levy this year, was intimated last night when Saanich council considered the first revised draft of the 1935 estimates. The 1934 rate was forty-two mills and 20 per cent on improvements. The mill rate will be fixed at the next council session.

Approximately $100,000 will be sought from taxpayers in general taxes. Last year about $100,000 was realized in general taxes, school taxes and Craigflower School levy.

BLANKET REDUCTION
However, a recent action of the Saanich council, sitting as a court of revision on the assessment roll, caused a blanket reduction in assessment on all improved land of $35 per acre. The loss in revenue to Saanich was about $3,000.

RETURNS FROM TAXES
The council estimated $111,600 to be paid into municipal coffers in general taxes. In 1934, $116,000 was received. Some $85,000 was estimated as collection from school levy and $3,800 was paid in last year. The council expects $3,000 more in collection of delinquent taxes than in 1934. Last year the receipts from delinquent taxes was $23,000. Returns from tax arrears was estimated at $25,200. Receipts last year were nearly $29,000.

The total estimated receipts from taxes was given as $251,960, as compared with $254,324 received in 1934.

TWO FEATURES
Two features of the 1935 estimates were inclusion of $10,280, the annual sinking fund amount in the waterworks, and $9,747 interest on Saanich sinking fund debentures. Neither of these items were included in the 1934 estimates.

Provincial Government grants were estimated at $122,665, including motor licence fees, waterworks, sales, new service fees, bank cash and amounts receivable on previous grants. The 1934 grants were $118,144. In the 1935 amount about $17,112 was for accounts due for December and November relief grants owing to Saanich.

RELIEF COSTS DOWN
On the expenditure side of the estimates, $30,000 was set aside for roads and bridges and direct relief. This amount covers the municipality's share only. In 1934 more than $83,000 was spent in this department. The estimate may be changed at a later session of the council.

Administration and maintenance of the waterworks was set at $25,000 while interest on debentures totaled $37,325. The school board estimates were $83,095, an increase of $2,000 over the 1934 total.

The council allocated $15,500 for public health and $16,000 for social service charges.

The first draft of the estimates included $30,300 earmarked for any specific purpose.

POLICE ESTIMATES
Saanich police board estimates for 1935 passed by the commission last night were not materially higher than the 1934 figure. The board estimated $12,500 to administer the police department during the year, as compared with an expenditure of $12,337.96 in 1934.

Purchase of two new motorcycles was authorized by the board in the estimates. One has already been purchased and the second will be bought within a few days. The cost of the two machines and a sidecar was estimated at approximately $1,000. There was no other major change in the cost of administration. The estimate was accepted by the council.

RAISED UPROAR
His proposals to cut interest rates in Vancouver had differed very little, Mayor McGeer observed. Yet these proposals of his had raised questions in the House of Commons at Westminster, questions in the House of Commons at Ottawa, and

TESTIFIES UNDER OATH
Sworn Statement of London Woman Reveals How Fruit-a-tives Gave Her Quick Relief from Biliousness

So ill that she had to go to a hospital. Mrs. Daddon, 523 Simcoe Street, London, Ontario, at last got complete relief from biliousness. She tells of her happy experience in a statement made under oath before a notary to convince everyone of its absolute truth. Mrs. Daddon states, "I had a bad case of biliousness and constant headaches and backaches. I became so ill I had to go to a hospital. Nothing I tried would help until I started taking Fruit-a-tives. In a very short time my troubles disappeared. Now I have no more headaches or backaches and can do my housework without help from anyone."

It is by giving such results as those obtained by Mrs. Daddon that Fruit-a-tives has grown to be the largest selling remedy of its kind in Canada. Thousands of men and women have Fruit-a-tives to thank for their present good health. This famous remedy has brought lasting relief from constipation, indigestion, sick-headaches, and kindred ills.

Copy of Mrs. Daddon's complete sworn statement will be sent on request to Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Canada.

TRADES LICENCES
Actual discussion before the committee centred chiefly around a proposal, by the council, that business licences be increased by removal of a maximum licence of $100 per annum, now in the act. Vancouver collects $300,000 a year from business licences, including $40,000 from banks, $7,000 from barristers, and other amounts from other businesses.

The proposal was that breweries, utility companies, sugar refineries and other lines would be asked for more, to add $175,000 to the total collected. Objection was raised by Mainland delegations and the proposal opposed by Mr. McGeer himself.

J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., suggested a year's hold for the licensing proposal.

The committee, after further discussion, tabled the clause for the present.

WANTS "SHOW-DOWN"
Byron Johnson, first member for Victoria in the Legislature and a member of the committee, suggested the time was ripe for a "show-down" on taxation.

"There has got to be a show-down on taxation throughout the Dominion. There is no use patching up municipal revenues and taxation. The time is right and there should be a show-down all around," Mr. Johnson contributed.

The majority of Mainland representatives, however, said they preferred to await the Bradshaw report, due today. Thomas Bradshaw, the Toronto expert engaged by Vancouver to make the survey, did not attend, but will file his report in Vancouver, Mayor McGeer intimated. A special meeting of the Vancouver Council will then be called.

After desultory discussion the committee adjourned financial clauses in the Vancouver bill until 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

RENEWED IN HOUSE
Speaking on the budget debate in the House, Mr. McGeer again urged the Provincial Government to take over the pooling of Vancouver and other British Columbia cities, either on the metropolitan area plan, or solely through Provincial Police.

Provincial financing, he contended, was in a hopeless position, with debts growing and millions in interest being "pumped into a dead credit system like hypodermic injections, in a vain effort to revive it."

Talk of surpluses was "boloney" and "hipo-mali-mali" (a choice South American edition of "kidding the boys along"), Mr. McGeer argued.

NOT WITH BANK
Analysing Provincial refunding plans as outlined for the second year in the budget, Mr. McGeer declared there was no real intention of immediate action to refund $127,000,000 of the British Columbia debt. The Bank of Canada would have authority to lend the Province only the equivalent of one-quarter of its revenue, repayable in the same year, but could not assist with capital funds to retire, or convert debt.

The budget had spoken for savings of $55,000,000 to be secured by refunding with Dominion and national bank help on a basis that called for the calling in of bonds, a reduction of interest rates to 3 per cent, and retirement at par value of bonds withdrawn from the new scheme.

RAISED UPROAR
His proposals to cut interest rates in Vancouver had differed very little, Mayor McGeer observed. Yet these proposals of his had raised questions in the House of Commons at Westminster, questions in the House of Commons at Ottawa, and general uproar. It was, however, commented, that a much larger Provincial refunding plan had raised no such outcry. Had the bond dealers been assured that refunding would not take place, he asked.

The budget, he reverted, was the work of a magician; a striking example of taking delusions and magnifying them by illusions. Revenue-producing debt had been inserted in 1933, omitted in 1934, and reinserted in 1935 to create varied effects.

NOT PLAYING
Vancouver was not playing at refunding, but was sincere and honest in the declaration that the city could not pay more than 3 per cent for a time. So long as he was mayor of the city he would see that revenues went first to the payment of education and other necessary services, and the bondholder would get what was left. It was a case of humanity first and usury second, he said.

Was Vancouver to be left to the mercy of the bond-dealers, who would profit by the market play that would follow any collapse, Mayor McGeer asked.

Returning to Provincial affairs, the first member for Burrard suggested British Columbia's finances would go behind by $11,000,000 this year. Upwards of $6,000,000 had been omitted in sinking funds provision and relief costs. Between 1918 and 1934 the Province's debt had grown by $111,000,000, or at the rate of $6,500,000 a year. "Surpluses" were promised by minister after minister in the Treasury, but the debt marched ever on.

OUT-JONAHED
The present budget has out-Jonahed the Jones budget, which out-Shelled the Shelly budget before," Mr. McGeer charged on. It had been said that Ministers of Finance were, but office boys to bankers. He would not say that of the present minister. Upwards of $20,000,000 in outstanding Treasury bills had accumulated, while about $25,000,000, all told, remained to be funded. The overdraft at the bank had been increased.

British Columbia had got the worst of the bargain on subsidies, on relief grants, and on interest rates at Ottawa. More would be returned to the Dominion by the Province in interest than was received by British Columbia in the $750,000 added subsidy under "better terms." The Federal Government had "out-pokered" the Minister of Finance to the tune of $750,000 last year, he contended.

COST OF CREDIT
"Our credit is costing us so much that if we do not get rid of it, it will break us," Mr. McGeer declared, to laughter and some applause.

He reiterated Vancouver financial problems, and said the depression was continuing because leaders failed to face the facts. The present system of finance was vicious and fundamentally wrong. An oligarchy of money power ruled governments, and public needs were measured by the rateable return in possible interest that could be paid.

"From the corridors of Time will never come a greater boon, nor a richer blessing, than the freedom that will be ours when the oligarchy of money power is obliterated. We are going to destroy the monopoly of money power, or it is going to destroy us," Mr. McGeer concluded.

SHOULDER TO SHOULDER
Gordon Wismer, preceding Mayor McGeer, said that he wanted the citizens of Vancouver to know that Liberal members from Vancouver were "standing shoulder to shoulder in the fight for Vancouver." Vancouver's back was to the wall. There was no time to watch and wait. A "new deal" was due now.

Mr. Wismer referred to what he said was Mayor McGeer's single-handed fight against the railways (an allusion to the famous freight rates case) and financial interests entrenched in the East. In all this he was heartily behind his former law partner, Mr. Wismer declared. He closed with citations from Eastern newspapers, extolling Mr. McGeer as a new financial prophet of his day.

The House recessed at 5 p.m. until 8:30 p.m., when debate proceeded on the budget.

REPULSE ANOTHER ASSAULT
LAZ PAZ, Bolivia, March 7 (AP).—Bolivian troops have repulsed Paraguay's twenty-fourth assault at the defenses of Villa Montes, the War Ministry announced today, after fifty minutes of fighting which it described as fifty minutes of "slaughter."

RECONSIDERS RESIGNATION

E. W. Whyte Urged Not to Withdraw From May 24 Parade Committee

Declaring the programme committee had been opposed on every hand to satisfy the whims of other chairmen, E. W. Whyte, chairman of the parade committee, at a meeting of the May 24 celebration committee last night in the City Hall tendered the resignation of his committee. Alderman Thomas W. C. Hawkins declined to accept the resignation, and other committee chairmen appealed to Mr. Whyte and his committeemen to reconsider their decision, which they did.

Mr. Whyte took exception to the meeting's action last night in rescinding a motion of last meeting providing for the crowning of a May queen on the evening of May 23 in front of the Parliament Buildings. Percy C. George, chairman of the May queen committee, asked that the ceremony be changed to the following morning at 9:46 o'clock, immediately prior to the grand parade. He believed a morning ceremony would draw a bigger crowd.

LOSE ATTRACTION
With the changing of the date of the crowning ceremonies, the main attraction, a lighted night parade, scheduled for May 23, was cancelled. Mr. Whyte pointed out. Following considerable questioning on the advisability of following out certain plans advanced by the parade committee, Mr. Whyte tendered the resignation of his committee. Three of his committeemen, and C. H. Cox, chairman of the water sports committee, stated they thought Mr. Whyte had not been given a "fair show."

REPORTS MADE
Mr. Whyte, parade committee; T. P. McConnell, land sports; Mr. Cox, water sports; Mr. George, queen crowning ceremonies and contest, and S. G. Peels, mass choir and fireworks, presented reports showing ambitious programmes for May 23, 24 and 25. The tentative programme is as follows:

MAY 23
11 a.m.—I.O.D.E. ceremony at the Parliament Buildings.
2 p.m.—Public school sports at the Willows.
7:30 p.m.—Roller skating races on Yates Street hill.

MAY 24
9:45 a.m.—Crowning of May queen at the Parliament Buildings.
10:30 a.m.—Grand parade through the city.
1:30 p.m.—Regatta at the Gorge and games at Royal Athletic Park.
2:15 p.m.—Gymkhana at the Willows.
6 p.m.—Royal dinner.
7 p.m.—Venetian night carnival.
8 p.m.—Street events.

CAMPAIGN MANAGER
Frank C. Bickford, campaign manager for the celebration, was introduced at the meeting. The Griffiths Real Estate Company will be thanked by letter for its offer to provide office quarters on Government Street, near View Street, for celebration committee headquarters, the committee resolved.

Urges Government Aid Municipalities Before Year's Close

Byron Johnson Says Province Placed in Position of Receiver of Stolen Goods by Retaining Deductions—Lotteries and Regional Tariffs Argued

STRAIGHT warning, that British Columbia municipalities could not wait a year for financial resuscitation, was served on the Government yesterday by Byron Johnson, Liberal member for Victoria, speaking to the budget debate in the evening sitting. He asked that the Province, make municipal aid the first plank of its intended conference with Ottawa this Spring.

Thomas Uphill (Labor, Fernie); E. T. Kenney (Liberal, Skeena), and John Price (C.C.F., Vancouver East), spoke during the evening.

REGIONAL TARIFFS

Mr. Johnson rehearsed what was, he said, the necessity for revision of the tariff policy of Canada, and amendment to the B.N.A. Act. He advocated regional tariffs, to permit Western Canada to buy on the same price level it sold its goods.

British Columbia was losing trade by inability to make return purchases, against sales of timber, and other products sold in Empire countries and elsewhere abroad. A regional tariff would cure this, and would remove the protected bias against the West, that mounted as high as 40 per cent in the case of mining and other machinery.

The West could no longer continue to pay unlimited tribute to the East, he said.

NO SECESSION

Mr. Johnson said secession was no cure. A united Canada, with a more reasonable living for all, should be the aim. This, he believed, would be fully attainable by revision of present economic policies, and by mutual helpful co-operation between national, provincial and municipal governments.

British Columbia municipalities were at the crossroads now. Action to help them could not wait on the promise of "something being done a year hence." It was the duty of the Province to take the issue up at once, and to speak to it fully at the next conference at Ottawa. By continuing in enjoyment of deductions, made from the municipalities by a former administration, the Government was placing the Province in the position of a receiver of stolen goods, he concluded.

TOUR OF WORLD

Thomas Uphill, Labor member for Fernie, took the House on a hilarious trip around a world, which contained some light, some shadow, and a great deal of fun. His recipe for fashions and speeches, "long enough to cover the subject, but short enough to be interesting," set the mood for his talk. A little travel was broadening, he submitted.

"They sent the former Minister of Agriculture (E. D. Barrow) across the sea. Next time if they send me it would not cost them $4,000. He must have put in his midnight expenses at well," he commented.

Some milk producers of the Fraser Valley were developed as dangerously alike to "the person that sits in a meadow and waits for the cow to back up to be milked," Mr. Uphill continued.

The member for Fernie told of good beer in Berlin, riots at the Whitehall, technology in tires, bricks and earth excavations, and passed on in swift succession to other fields. He paused for a while to quarrel with an American journal that displayed pictures of "starvation in Russia." "Why in Russia, why not in Canada?" he asked.

FISH FOR THE SEA

"Contrast what they are doing around the world, with what we are doing here in British Columbia, where we throw the fish back into the sea, plough tomatoes under the ground, and destroy food to maintain prices," he said.

A million persons had been on relief in Canada, and $3,500 in this province.

"It is a crying shame. When will we be men enough and women enough to see that no person in British Columbia has to go hat in hand to ask for relief; in a country filled with abundance?" Mr. Uphill asked.

Science was puzzling. Last year the House's lone chemical research expert (Dr. J. Allen Harris) had described how to make rubber boots into gin; but this year he proposed to make rubber boots out of coal. It seemed a round-about procedure, Mr. Uphill said.

He had "just one word for the budget," but it proved extensive.

SHORT IN COVERS

"Someone is trying to get too much of the blanket. The Government finds it a little short at one end. The Mayor of Vancouver is a little restless, too. He has decided to strip the whole bed. Others suggest that the blanket be pulled up, so that it covers the head of the Government; but that would leave them with cold feet. The truth is, it is short," Mr. Uphill averred.

The member for Fernie said he was the author of 3 per cent interest movements in British Columbia. Others, he said, had stolen or borrowed his idea. He proved it by a rejected motion before the House on March 4, 1932, where he had asked for a mandatory order by the Legislature to cut all interest to 3 per cent. Mr. Speaker Davey, of that day, had been against it, and had ruled the motion out of order. He was, however, in excellent company now.

Having got the attention of the House by his preamble, Mr. Uphill delivered a stirring plea for those genuinely in distress at Fernie, where mines have been closing intermittently since 1927. Fernie had received, and would continue to receive, every possible consideration. Mr. Uphill was assured by the Minister of Labor, satisfied with this assurance, he sat down.

WORK TO DO

John Price discussed the terms of the budget briefly. He advocated increased income taxes on those who might reasonably be expected to pay. It was an anomaly to see people in want in a country of plenty, and men without work with an accumulation of work to be done, he said.

The C.C.F. he continued, was developing along special lines with growing understanding of the problems to be faced. The party had discovered what it meant to be "stabbed in the back by those appealing to a united front." Vancouver's financial problem

Performs Daring Stunt

"He flies through the air with the greatest of ease," this daring young man and his home-made wings. Clem Sohn, Daytona Beach, Florida, leaped from an airplane 12,000 feet above the earth and "flew" 2,000 feet with his wings, turning, looping the loop and doing sundry stunts before opening his parachute. He plans to try again.

was only that of every other municipality. Mr. Price concluded.

ADVOCATES LOTTERIES

E. T. Kenney advocated Federal aid to permit extension of accommodation at British Columbia mental institutions, stating overcrowding existed with serious defects due to lack of funds and accommodation.

Out of 600 mental cases recorded at one point, 115 only were residents of the province, showing what was, he said, the national aspect of the problem. Upwards of 3,000 mental patients were being cared for in all. Opening of a new wing at one Mainland institution last year had provided some relief to pressing need for accommodation.

Mr. Kenney endorsed sweepstakes for charitable aims. If the end was justified, the agency should not weigh too heavily in the balance against possibility of helpful action. "Let us have sweepstakes. They have been long overdue," he concluded.

The House rose, shortly before 11 p.m., until 2:30 p.m. today. Dr. J. J. Gillis (Liberal, Yale) adjourned debate.

OTHER VISITS NOT DELAYED

was regarded as placing the Government in an excellent position for next Monday's debate. As for the visit of Sir John to Berlin, the next move is up to Berlin.

NO WORD FROM BERLIN

The Government is still without word from Berlin as to the suggested visit. Its indefinite postponement was explained by the fact that Hitler had a cold. The Government's opponents continued to charge that the postponement was directly due to the official White Paper of Monday, which explained Britain's proposals for armaments strengthening were necessary in view of increased uneasiness, mentioning that, if rearmament in Germany continued uncontrolled, peace might be endangered.

J. H. Thomas, Dominions Secretary, during a speech in London today, took occasion to defend publication of the White Paper, which newspapers favorable to the proposals have already pointed out contains nothing that had not been said before.

Captain Eden's visit probably will take place within the next few weeks.

FEMINIST RESIGNS

Further repercussions from the White Paper, which has already led the Labor Party to prepare a motion of censure for debate on Monday, today included the resignation of Mrs. Margery Corbett Ashby, distinguished feminist, as a substitute British delegate to Geneva.

She termed the document "the last blow against the possibility of a successful disarmament convention and the greatest moral disaster we have had in this country since the Treaty of Versailles."

ON PRIVATE MISSION

BERLIN, March 7 (CP-Havas).—Joachim von Ribbentrop, Chancellor Adolf Hitler's personal arms negotiator, will probably go to London next week on a private mission, which is generally linked here with the postponement of the Anglo-German conference on European peace security.

The impression gathered in German political and diplomatic circles is that the visit by Ribbentrop would dissipate any belief abroad that Hitler's bad cold, caught last Friday at Saarbrücken, is a "diplomatic illness" brought on by the British White Paper on rearmament.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB TO BE FORMED

A branch of the Twentieth Century Club, embracing young Liberals, is to be formed in the city. All young people between the ages of seventeen and thirty-five, who support Liberal principles, are eligible for membership.

Temporary officers of the club are: V. W. Speed, president; R. Doherty, vice-president, and L. A. Rounding, secretary. A meeting will be held March 12 at Liberal headquarters to elect permanent officers and draw up a constitution.

Echoes From The Gallery

Speaking on the budget debate in the Legislature yesterday, Gordon Wismer (Liberal, Vancouver), said he recently visited "the gold brick area" in the interior of the Province. "The place was full of people from Vancouver," he added. The member was speaking, at the time, to Vancouver's interest in the hinterland of the Province.

One in every 150 people engaged in British Columbia logging camps were killed last year, Ernest Baker (C.C.F., Mackenzie), told the House, in the course of debate on his motion that the Legislature endorse use of flexible equipment, and selective logging, where possible, in British Columbia. Hon. A. W. Gray adjourned debate at the afternoon sitting, intending reply.

Former Mayor Louis D. Taylor, of Vancouver, was an interested spectator on the floor of the House, while Mayor G. G. McGeer, K.C., enlarged upon the need for financial aid to that city.

"Shenanigan" entered the cloisters of Parliament as a permissible word in debate, when Mayor McGeer referred to inter-changeable items in the British Columbia budget. Revenue-producing debt, he said, was sometimes included in the budget, and sometimes not included. "It is a case of 'on again, off again, on again, shenanigan,'" he said, to laughter. "Bologna," and "hoo-mall-mall" were other terms used.

Equipment worth $282,787 was loaned by the Department of Works for use in national defence camps and on Federal relief last year; while new machinery and equipment to the value of $144,657 was purchased by the Province in the same period. The latter item included two tractors, one bulldozer, two hoists, seventy-two motor vehicles, nine snow ploughs and six snow blades. Hon. P. M. MacPherson has replied to questions in the House.

Vancouver Liberal members in the Legislature, found themselves in an exposed position yesterday, after the address of the first member for Vancouver Burrard, Mayor G. G. McGeer, K.C. Speaking before Mr. McGeer, Gordon Wismer had practically extended assurances, on the part of Vancouver members, that they would support His Worshipship on Vancouver financial appeals.

His Worship, following, devoted only a little while to Vancouver affairs, and half an hour to scrutiny of the budget.

Hairdressers, barbers and pharmacy bills are expected to make their way into the House today for annual review of conditions in these callings. The pharmacy bill has several important features in connection with the control and regulation of dangerous specifics for sale to the public. Hon. A. W. Gray is to introduce a bill for Oak Bay municipality.

More than $6,000 has been expended to date in aid of flood victims at Sumas and elsewhere in the Lower Mainland, the Minister of Works replied to questions in the House. In Burnaby, $15,350 was spent in 1934, out of allocations from the $1,000,000 works loan to the Province from Ottawa, he said to further questions.

Dr. J. J. Gillis, Attorney-General Sloan and Premier Pattullo are expected to wind up the debate on the budget in the Legislature today. The House will resume at 2:30 p.m., with an evening sitting expected to follow at 8:30 o'clock.

POWERS MAY ACT JOINTLY

Possibility of Co-operative Action to Aid China Financially Being Studied

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP).—The United States has informed Great Britain that if China needs and desires financial assistance this country believes the powers should "conveniently sympathetically" the possibility of co-operative action.

Under-Secretary Phillips, to clarify numerous rumors concerning American participation in any joint effort to assist the Chinese Government in its present financial crisis, tonight issued a formal statement setting forth this Government's views.

Phillips' exposition of the American Government's view resulted from a visit which Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British Ambassador, made to the State Department last Thursday, during which he was understood to have explained that Japan and China had approached his Government concerning the Far Eastern economic situation and possible remedial action.

MERITS CONSIDERATION

The British Government, the ambassador was understood to have reported, considered that the situation merited consideration.

Press dispatches from the Far East have reported that China is in a critical condition financially, and that unless the Western Powers come to her assistance, the Chinese Government would be forced to turn to Japan for a loan.

The reported Japanese loan would be made, according to dispatches, on the understanding that all anti-Japanese agitation cease in China, and that Japanese advisers replace the foreign advisers now in the employ of the Nanking Government.

LOCAL SPEAKERS WILL DEBATE IN VANCOUVER

Frank Hunter, Percy E. George and Leslie Osborne will represent the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce in a debate with the Vancouver Chamber of Civic Affairs tomorrow night in the Mainland city. The local debaters will uphold "the negative, the title of the debate—'Amal' of the C.P.R. and the C.N.R. Is in the Best Interest of the People in Canada'."

PIGGY WIGGLY

In the face of many advancing costs, it sounds strange to hear of lower retail prices—but that is exactly what has taken place at Piggly Wiggly. A large increase in sales has made possible lower selling prices to our customers. We are not opening new stores because there are too many grocery stores in Victoria now—but we have greatly improved our methods of operating stores and believe we now have the best-stocked, most sanitary grocery stores in Victoria. We appreciate your patronage and will serve you to the best of our ability. Thank you!

CENTRAL BANK IN OPERATION

The Bank of Canada is now in operation, but it will be some time before its effects, if any, are felt on the financial structure of the country. In the long run the banking public will be just as well off as they are today; the security of the chartered banks will remain as strong as ever. Those banks are to turn over their gold holdings to the Bank of Canada at the old gold valuation, except to the limited extent of such gold as is held against liabilities outside the country. The circulation privilege of those banks is to be taken over gradually by the Bank of Canada. Beginning next year, the limit of issue of notes by the chartered banks will be reduced gradually by 5 per cent annually for a period of five years, and then by 10 per cent for a further period of five years, after which the note circulation of a bank is not to exceed 25 per cent of its unimpaired paid-up capital. It has yet to be determined what effect this will have on branch banking facilities. The contention of the chartered banks has been that those facilities have often been provided on a basis which would be unprofitable but for the note-issuing privilege.

With the Bank of Canada in operation, credit will remain conditional on security as in the past. The Macmillan Commission, in advocating a Central Bank, said this clearly in its report, which said: "We should, perhaps, sound a note of warning as to the degree to which such an institution could fulfill all the expectations that the public mind might attach to it. A Central Bank could not cure all the economic ills of Canada; it would not be a source of unlimited credit for all the borrowers on all occasions; indeed its operations might as often be restrictive as expansive." The bank, in fact, is designed to maintain the soundness of Canadian money. It is based on sound finance, not political expediency, and that is why it is not a government-owned institution, but is the result of private subscription. Therein lies its strength. It cannot be used, as Socialists would wish, for exploiting the savings of the people. It is only time that will show how the operations of the Bank of Canada will affect the business of the chartered banks. The new institution has a sound personnel of management. It has no defects in the banking system to correct, and if it keeps its main purpose in view, namely the maintenance of sound finance, it can prove an asset, even if a somewhat suspicious one, in the financial structure of the country.

MUNICIPAL FINANCES

Nothing whatever was accomplished by the meeting of Western Mayors at Calgary, and a similar fate seems destined for the proposed gathering of municipal representatives at Montreal. The attitude of Alderman Harvey, of Vancouver, in this respect is the viewpoint of sanity. The Federal Government and Provincial Governments are fully aware of the financial condition reached by some municipalities. They know, moreover, what has led to that condition; and it is not quite clear to them why they should be requested to pull the chestnuts out of the fire. No doubt, in the long run, the higher governments will be prepared to assist municipalities to meet their obligations, but most assuredly they are not going to be stampeded into this course of action, or to acquiesce in every proposal made to them. The responsibility is in no sense that of the Federal Government. The jurisdiction is a provincial one, for municipalities are self-governing to the extent to which they are allowed to be by provincial governments.

The sole object of the Calgary Conference and of the forthcoming Montreal gathering is simply an attempt to direct national consideration to the financial position of municipalities. It is a superfluous way, costing money which could very well be saved, since municipalities are in such financial straits. Alderman Harvey says that this idea of aldermen chasing around trying "to boss legislators and parliamentarians is getting to be ridiculous." That idea prevails, as well among a large section of the public. There are ordered and orthodox ways of seeking relief without a process of ballyhoo. The municipalities have their members both in the Legislatures and in the Federal Parliament who, in this and in other ways, are expected to represent their constituencies. It would be far more to the purpose if municipalities, not having been governed by those possessed of vision, were now to give a few more indications that economy is to be the watchword of the day. Evidence of this character would lead to more sympathetic reaction to their requests for financial assistance.

YOUTH'S LITERARY TASTES

The character of the youth of any generation is mainly determined by what it reads. Despite the fact that there are more circulating libraries than ever before it may be doubted if youth of the present day is reading more than it was, or should it be doing so, if it is reading books that are worth while. Statistics are useless on the subject. It is only by the manners, characters and conversational powers of youth that it is possible to estimate the nature of the literary fare upon which it lives mentally.

In Australia Mr. William J. Adey, Director of Education, seems to have been making an investigation of modern youth. He finds that poetry, except so far as it comes into the school curriculum, is not read by the majority of children. Among the older students he finds educated young men and women critical of traditional views in literature. In other words they are critical of literature that has survived. They do not read much of Dickens, Thackeray, Scott, Kingsley and other classical writers. Their tastes verge more to D. H. Lawrence, Beverley Nichols, Aldous Huxley, Galsworthy, Lewis and Masfield. Mr. Adey finds youth somewhat inconciliably biased, but with an underlying desire to find out the meaning of life. He says that "even while tasting it superficially to the full, they cover, under a cloak of nonchalance, a serious and almost pathetic, search for something which has been lost and cannot be found any more in tradition."

Mr. Adey has this advice to give: "Cultivate the acquaintance of books and you will have friends no matter what your circumstances of life may be, and you will have developed a taste which will stand you in good stead, both in your days of prosperity and in your days of adversity. . . . Teachers and parents must pay careful attention to the quality and character of the stories and poetry selected, because young people will then unconsciously develop an ear tuned to the best, and an aesthetic sense which will enable them to appreciate literary form, and will give them power to choose the highest. It will create a desire to read, and to obtain real and lasting enjoyment."

EUROPE'S SECURITY PACT

The sensationalism of radical suspicion is attempting to transform Herr Hitler's indisposition in health into an international issue. Labor opposition in the British House of Commons accuses the National Government of endangering the peace of Europe because, Sir John Simon's visit to Berlin, to discuss the proposed security pact, has been postponed. The Foreign Secretary says the British Government has accepted the fact that Herr Hitler is not well as a reason for the postponement of the conference at Berlin. The postponement is not due to Great Britain's action in decreasing increased expenditures for national defence.

A great danger to the peace of Europe is radical suspicion, and the Socialists of Great Britain are playing an ignoble role in this particular. There is no doubt that, before long, Sir John Simon will visit Berlin. There is no reason whatever why he should not, and he will do so on the invitation of the German Government. These are days of unlimited and vitiated propaganda. That is one of the festering sores of the policy of open diplomacy. There may be much to be said about the old methods of secret diplomacy which led to so much execration following the Great War. One error into which that diplomacy would not have fallen was in providing the opportunity to open the floodgates of political partyism where issues of European security are concerned.

PRESERVATION OF WILD FLOWERS

Any provincial legislation devised to preserve the wild flowers of British Columbia will be welcomed by all lovers of Nature. There is no doubt that the profusion which marked their presence in the past is not apparent today. This is attributed to indiscriminate plucking, to uprooting of plants in a wanton way, and to a general disregard for their preservation. This question of maintaining wild flowers comes up in many lands, and British Columbia has illustrations of legislative enactment which could be followed here. Publicity has accomplished some good in awakening the public conscience to the possibility of the eradication of wild flowers by indiscriminate picking. Something more, however, seems desirable, and if a law can be devised in this particular it will go far to have the effect sought. Wild flowers used to be prolific even within settled areas of the province, and they have always been regarded as a definite part of the scenic beauty. There is no argument that can be advanced in favor of allowing the conditions of their disappearance to continue.

It is style alone by which posterity will judge of a great work, for an author can have nothing truly his own but style; an author's diction cannot be taken from him.—Disraeli.

Such labor's nothings, in so strange a style,
Amaze the learned, and make the learned smile.
—Pope.

A great writer possesses, so to speak, an individual and unchangeable style, which does not permit him easily to preserve the anonymous.—Voltaire.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Contempt is a kind of anarchy, which, if it seizes one part of a character, corrupts all the rest by degrees.—Johnson.

Writers for the newspapers sometimes make curious statements and the man on the street occasionally expresses startling thoughts. A week or two ago a writer for an American newspaper thanked God in print that the Hauptmann trial was over and the fate of the prisoner sealed. Not so long ago we heard a man who had just come out of a house of prayer say he did not think much of the service, but that he had seen a pretty good show. The writer for the newspaper gave thanks too soon. The last has not been heard or written about the Hauptmann case—that was too good a show to be allowed to come to a premature end. The point of those reflections is what is the world coming to when the courts of justice are being turned into vaudeville houses and the houses of God into theatres?

There is going to be what professional entertainers call an added attraction to the notorious Hauptmann burlesque. We apply the word burlesque to the case advisedly, not because the proceedings of the court were conducted differently from what we are accustomed to in this country, but because the proceedings have been so described by many reputable United States newspapers, several judges and a few lawyers. The court at Flemington was called a hippodrome, a descriptive word appropriately introduced into America by that prince of humbugs, the late P. T. Barnum. The Hauptmann case is not finished. It is to be continued, possibly indefinitely and at an indefinite time, after the usual flow of ballyhoo.

The newspapers were a trifle premature when in special editions they announced in flaring headlines that the jury had returned a verdict of guilty and that the prisoner must die on the electric chair. When the papers said Hauptmann had been condemned and must die they did not take into consideration the idiosyncrasies of the law and the resourcefulness of lawyers. In their eagerness to print sensational news they forgot that while one court might condemn another court might order a stay of execution. Hauptmann has been reprieved. Already the lawyers are collecting funds for his further defence, propaganda is being circulated about Lindbergh money being current, and attorneys are telling reporters about new clues leading infallibly to the incrimination of other persons than the man upon whom circumstances have fastened the crime.

All commentators agree that justice in the case of the murdered baby has been made a mockery and that something must be done to prevent such another scandal and restore the dignity of the courts. That is none of our business. It is the concern of the authorities who control the courts of justice in the United States. But the conditions which have created scandal are not new. They have prevailed for a generation, although during all that time the necessity for reform has been apparent. Reforms are hard to effect when multitudes of emotional people not only sympathize with criminals, but many of them will shed tears and gulp sobs while giving perjured evidence in their defence.

This hysterical state of the public mind is responsible for much of the crime in the United States. But the newspapers must share some of this responsibility, for they have made heroes out of assassins. A more euphonious name than assassin is gunman. Every desperado who has a series of cold-blooded murders to his discredit is called a gunman. Many of these ruffians have been shielded from the officers of the law by silly people because of the glamour attached to murder on a large scale. The operations of those killers have been facilitated by the provision of the constitution which decrees that an adjoining state may be an asylum of refuge for criminals fleeing from the laws of a contiguous state. That is why the Federal police and the Federal courts have been empowered to deal with certain notorious gunmen.

But the real defect in United States criminal jurisprudence is that the water of justice is poisoned at its fountain head. An efficient police system may be frustrated by a complicated, protracted and cumbersome court system. The farce enacted at Flemington proved that and the proceedings likely to follow will accentuate it. Whether Hauptmann be innocent or guilty has nothing to do with the case. The accused may be given a new trial or he may be acquitted on a fine technical point of indictment or procedure, but the courts will not be acquitted of the charges which have been made against them: that they have turned the courts of justice into vaudeville show houses.

WINSTON CHURCHILL

R.B.D.—In the second paragraph of your article of this morning you write: "Sometimes we do not know whether he is a great patriot or merely an ambitious office-seeker."

Perhaps the following from "My Army Life," by Lieut.-General the Earl of Dundee, K.C.B., K.C.V.O., page 147, and which I am reading while taking treatment for a war disability, will answer your question:

"The South African Light Horse rejoined my brigade in the evening of February 28 from Pretoria, having accomplished their mission. I walked over to see Colonel Byng at the bivouac of the S.A.L.H. and in the course of conversation he laughed and said: 'I must tell you what Winston said this evening. Colonel Byng went on: "Winston said he wanted to get the D.S.O., as it would look so nice on the robes of the Chancellor of the Exchequer. He added: 'I told him he must first get into Parliament if he could get any constituency to have him.' "As a matter of fact, I did after the war was over recommend Lieutenant Winston Churchill for a reward, but he got nothing."

REVELSTOCK ASKS WORK FOR PEOPLE

Councillors at Revelstoke have written to the City Council urging support of the following resolution, dealing with creation of productive employment by Federal and Provincial Governments:

"Whereas, productive employment for all is the first fundamental to bring about permanent recovery from the present state of economic chaos, it is impossible to create wealth except by work. Therefore, be it resolved, that Federal and Provincial Governments be respectfully urged to take such steps as may be found necessary, to create productive employment in every Province, sufficient to provide for the needs of the people."

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

BRIDGE FUTURES

From every source of authentic information I get enthusiastic reports about the development of contract bridge. The fourth annual world bridge Olympic far eclipsed the third. It was the largest bridge tournament ever held in the history of the world. Then came the U.S.B.A. national championships, drawing a much larger attendance than usual. State and city championships all over the country are attracting big crowds. The most gratifying feature being the numbers of new participants.

And this increased popularity of the game is not restricted to America. From England comes news to please the hearts of duplicate players. After telling about the increase in rubber play, The British Bridge World says: "The rapid development of duplicate is astonishing. Duplicate bridge is so different in character from rubber bridge, it might almost be said we were fostering a new game. Scientific, stimulating and inexpensive, it bids fair to provide an outlet, on a quite unprecedented scale, for the energies of those who like the battle of wits. We foresee the day when duplicate bridge will loom larger than will any single interest in our intellectual recreation."

Despite the introduction of similar card games, I am firmly convinced that the contract caravan will continue to grow, daily adding hundreds to its numbers.

WRONG GUESSING

The artful declarer makes it as hard as possible for the opponents to put up the best defence. One of his stock devices is the false card. In certain situations it is almost impossible for the defender to tell whether declarer is making his natural play or is dragging a red herring across the trail.

In today's hand the crafty South player succeeded in making East guess wrong.

MOTOR LICENSES ON SHORT TERMS

Sir,—Last year about this time I made urgent representations to the Government to issue quarterly motor licenses at the beginning of the year owing to the serious difficulty faced by poor people in finding the full year's fee. Owing to the great need for getting in all the revenue possible then, the proposal could not be adopted.

This year, however, a decided improvement is reported and again I urge our Liberal Government to immediately consider the urgency of this matter and the good it would do the common people who feel rightly discriminated is shown and even the aristocrat is panting with the financial strain and requires this consideration.

British Columbia has no business to be lagging behind other countries in adopting modern licence methods, as our old way does undoubtedly grant a special favor to the fortunate, who also, by the way, could in many cases even do without a licence and not suffer as the people are suffering when they depend utterly upon a car.

The small extra charge made everywhere for the short term fully cares for the extra cost, so the Government is not bowing its stiff-necked policy to the need of the whole of the people.

Strange, is it not, our C.C.F. members fail to take any interest in such simple needs as above and seem more concerned with delving into back history of doubtful value, and instead advance glamorous ideals of little immediate value or

THE PLAY

West opened the nine of diamonds and East won with the King, declarer innocently dropping the Queen. Declarer had realized in the split second it took him to play the dummy that a club had to be lost in any event and that if a trump trick were lost it was vital to lose only one diamond. East's strong bidding of the minor suits indicated the heart suit would break badly.

East deliberated after winning the first trick. It seemed foolhardy to continue with the diamonds. He hoped his partner held two tricks in the major suits. East, therefore, shifted to the king of clubs, to declarer's great satisfaction.

When Kitchener was a Subaltern

Long before Lord Kitchener carried a Field-Marshal's baton; indeed, away back in the seventies when he was a young Subaltern, we were fighting the cause of Empire Wines.

In those days it was not thought possible to produce wines within the Empire which were comparable in quality with Foreign wines.

The development of "Empire consciousness," of which Lord Kitchener was a staunch supporter, has made people more willing to try Empire Wines. And, having tried them, few go back to Foreign wines. For example, EMU 444 and EMU 999—Australia's choicest White and Tawny Ports—are now firmly established throughout the Empire. They are wines of outstanding quality.

Another point in their favour is that they cost much less than Foreign wines of equal quality—due to their receiving a tariff preference when entering Canada.

IMPRESSION NOT CORRECT

C.P.R. Head Quotes Figures to Show Government Aid Given Railways

MONTREAL, March 7. (AP)—E. W. Beatty, C.P.R. chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, today issued a statement in reply to that tabled in the House of Commons yesterday which set forth that Dominion Government aid to the Canadian Pacific had totaled $100,866,405, as against a total amount of $33,870,017 given to the Canadian National Railways.

"This is a totally misleading statement," said Mr. Beatty. "The figures in both instances are quite wrong, as can easily be discovered by looking up Government records."

"Of the 25,000,000 acres of land granted, 6,793,014 were returned to the Government for a consideration of $10,000,000, leaving a net grant of 18,206,986 acres. The parliamentary statement duplicates these figures."

NOT GIVEN TO C.P.R.

"The total grants shown as given to the C.P.R. includes amounts given to lines now operated by the Canadian Pacific, but those amounts were received by the lines prior to the date of their acquisition by the C.P.R. In so far as this company is concerned it is erroneous to consider such aid as given to the Canadian Pacific Railway."

"I should further like to say that the payments to the Canadian Pacific Railway in land and cash were neither subsidies nor bonuses, but were payments constituting part of a contract providing that in return for such payments the company was to build and maintain in perpetuity the line across Canada, which could not possibly have been built without some such governmental assistance as this. Another part of the contract was that the company should populate the Prairie Provinces with settlers. The company has already spent more than $100,000,000 of its own money in this work. Also it has paid in taxes in Canada up to the end of last year more than $120,000,000."

INCOMPLETE PICTURE

"The newspaper report of the parliamentary statement quotes the cash subsidies to the old Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Railways at $33,070,017, thus leaving the inference that the comparison between the aid granted the Canadian Pacific Railway and those roads stands in the relationship of $100,000,000 to $33,000,000. For a complete picture of total aid to the Canadian National Railways, all loans and cash expenditures of the Federal Government must be taken into consideration. The Duff report, on Pages 87 and 88, summarized the total Government outlay for the Canadian National Railways, to the end of 1931, as follows:

Canadian Government Rvs. $ 463,763,357
Canadian Northern Railways 314,204,422
Grand Trunk Railways 137,749,696
Grand Trunk Pacific Railways 122,221,484
Canadian National Rvs. 128,521,916

Total Canadian National Railways group $1,206,461,199

GUARANTEED SECURITIES

In addition to the above figure, the Government carries responsibility for guaranteed securities in the hands of the public totaling $970,562,290, and as owner of the publicly-owned railway carries responsibility for unguaranteed securities of $305,894,917, and $10,000,000 in respect to the Northern Alberta Railways, making a total credit aid to the Canadian National system of $1,286,457,207. The grand total of the cash outlay and credit aid to the Canadian National system, as stated in the Duff report, is thus $2,487,918,406, which figure is exclusive of more than $350,000,000 of interest due on Government loans and yet unpaid. Since 1931 additional outlays of many millions have been added.

rebel commander, was said to be sorely pressed on two sides, and seriously handicapped by lack of modern artillery.

PILLAGING VILLAGES

The rebels, in sorry plight for supplies, were pillaging through numerous villages, border towns heard, causing considerable damage to tobacco fields which are the lifeblood of the countryside.

How solidly Macedonia was supporting the revolt was the subject of conflicting advice.

Some sources said Kamanos was resorting to drastic measures to press Macedonians into service. Other reports said Macedonian men and youths, always eager for autonomy, were rushing voluntarily to his colors in large numbers.

The rebel forces were believed to be badly outnumbered in the engagement. Kandyis, it was understood, had 80,000 men available, some ten times the number of the forces opposing him.

VENIZELLOS' INTENTION

Dispatches from Alexandria, Egypt, said former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos, titular head of the revolt, intends to declare Crete an independent state under the protection of the League of Nations if the revolt is finally crushed.

SHARED HUSBAND'S FATE

SHANGHAI, March 7 (AP)—Mrs. S. C. Frenchman, wife of a slain Australian missionary, was learned definitely today to have been murdered by the Communists who captured her and her husband last month. Until now her fate had been in doubt.

"Sun" dogs, which are technically known as parhelia, are mock suns or bright spots near the sun which appear when sunlight shines through a thin cloud composed of ice crystals floating in the atmosphere.

(The reports, the first direct word from the seat of the bitter rebellion, also described how the crack cruiser Averoff, flagship of the insurgent fleet, downed two Government airplanes in flames.)

All through the Balkans, old under box of Europe, Greece's neighbors, engaged their border guards and waited watchfully while the British battleship Royal Sovereign and a French destroyer reached Athens to protect their nationals, if it should prove necessary.

Battered by aerial bombardment and heavy artillery though they were, the insurgents stuck stubbornly to their guns.

As fear of an attack from the sea swept the capital, its business life paralyzed by the spreading revolt, the rebels' war fleet, numbering two cruisers and three destroyers, seemed to be carrying all before it.

QUICKLY SURRENDER

Mytilene, Samos and Chios, each with a population of over 70,000, surrendered in quick succession. Already in the hands of the insurgents, which former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos heads, was the big island of Crete, historic battle-ground of centuries of civil fighting.

Reports from the three islands which fell to the rebels today said the insurgents came ashore, raided warehouses and banks, carried away plundered supplies and took money to swell the coffers of the revolt.

While considerable mystery surrounded the exact whereabouts of the rebel fleet, it was reported active in the Aegean, seizing Greek merchant ships and pillaging supplies. It appeared to be out of range of the Government's bombing planes.

Tonight the Government was rushing thousands of troops into Macedonia, where the insurgents were threatening to march against Salonika.

CONSCRIPTED BY REBELS

Not to be outdone by the regular army in recruiting soldiers, the rebels summoned eighteen classes to their colors in Macedonia. These conscripts consisted in the main of Greeks expelled from Asia Minor by the Turks after the Great War.

General Demetrios Kamanos, commanding the rebel forces, admitted he had no airplanes, tanks or motorized artillery to throw into the breach against the superior Government arms, but maintained that every moment the Government delayed attacking him meant an increase in his strength.

(A dispatch from Athens to Paris said loyal forces under General Kalikatis had unambiguously defeated the Macedonian rebels. Bulgarian sources were quoted as saying 600 rebels were killed, 2,000 wounded and 700 taken prisoner.)

NEED CONSTANT WORK IN TRADE

J. H. McDonald Tells Forestry Committee of House of Industrial Need

Members of the forestry committee of the Legislature heard from J. H. McDonald, chairman of the market extension commission of the B.C. lumber industry which has been working for the general enlargement of the trade in timber products. The speaker dealt with the situation in various countries where export trade was being carried on.

In the opinion of Mr. McDonald was not the time for any letting up in extending trade. To succeed the industry must be kept continuously at work co-operating with governments in fostering a demand for British Columbia products.

In Great Britain he saw a wonderful opportunity in the move to clear away buildings in the slum sections of cities and replacing them with modern structures. Governing bodies discovered that improving of slum areas had been attended by wonderful results as far as the health of the people was concerned.

CONFISCATORY POWERS
Now the health department has been granted confiscatory powers, whereby slum areas could be condemned, work of rebuilding would go forward quicker than in the past.

Mr. McDonald found the Canadian High Commissioner, Hon. Howard Ferguson, ever ready to help in this work.

Last year 225,000 houses were built through the movement to eliminate slum areas.

In the province a continuation of government aid was assured so that the work undertaken could be carried along continuously and a regular policy of publicity could be formulated.

The commissioner was favorable to reciprocal arrangements entered into between parts of the British Commonwealth looking to an increase in trade.

LOOKING BACKWARD
In this connection he told of an interesting letter he discovered during his visit to South Africa, and written by Cecil Rhodes to Sir John A. Macdonald in May, 1891, urging upon Sir John a closer union in the Empire in a trade way. Sir John died before the letter reached him.

One of the drawbacks to trade with Australia, in lumber, was a desire on the part of the southern Dominion for import logs, instead of the sawn lumber.

The speaker was decidedly in favor of cutting off export of logs, he said in reply to R. H. Bruhn. In reply to S. E. McKen, Mr. McDonald said that to get a working arrangement with Oregon and Washington, curtail export of logs would be more difficult to carry into effect than to get a salmon treaty among the coast states and British Columbia.

He believed Australia was, perhaps, in a better mood for making reciprocal arrangements in regard to trade treaties—inasmuch as the southern Dominion was anxious to save its dried fruit trade with Canada.

VALUE OF AGENTS
In Japan there had been a falling off in trade, while in China British Columbia timber had made a gain from 43,000,000 feet in 1929 to 108,000,000 in 1934. This increase, he contended, showed the advantage of having a man on the ground looking after trade. It was due to the good work of Major L. Andrews who had paid two visits to the Orient.

The need of the day was co-operation in the control of markets. It was time for the businessman and the politicians to forget parties and attack the business proposition in earnest.

In South Africa the speaker found a disposition, on the part of the residents there, to trade with the Dominion. There were tremendous possibilities in that country. He would like to see Canada represented in Johannesburg, centre of a great mining area. Here with a mineral production of $360,000,000, and a white population of only 2,000,000, there was a wonderful opportunity. With an increase in the relative price of gold the Government had provided for the working of lower-grade properties, so as to give more employment, at a time when it would not interfere with the income.

TRADE WITH BRITAIN
In the United Kingdom there had been a marvelous increase in the shipments as compared with 1929. In connection with the shipments from Finland, Mr. McDonald pointed out, however, that the shipments last year were greater than the total production. This was due to the fact that there were shipments made from Russia through Finland, being credited to Finland.

In connection with the trade in Great Britain, Russia was not keeping to its arrangements. Russia was not making the purchases from Great Britain that she agreed to and had overstepped the timber quota. Incidentally he referred to work of a syndicate of British dealers who reaped a reward from all Baltic timber imports, and whose efforts had to be overcome by the Canadian shippers. The work of this group was "not very British," said Mr. McDonald, but it had to be contended with.

John A. Danes Laid at Rest

The funeral of John Allen Danes, who passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital on March 4 following an accident, took place yesterday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Andrew's Cathedral. Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father E. M. Scheelan.

Representatives from Victoria Court, No. 1256, Knights of Columbus, the Y.M.I. Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, No. 2, and the Pro Patria Branch attended the Mass in a body. The numerous beautiful floral designs testified to the popularity of Mr. Danes.

The honorary pallbearers were: A. MacDermott, M. Doyle, G. Hartnell, W. Gagnon, M. McDonald and A. Morry. The active pallbearers were: W. Albert, P. Shandley, W. J. Halliday, W. Robinson, E. Smith and H. Hartnell.

The remains were laid at rest in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Canadian-American Relations Friendly Says Social Student

Professor H. F. Angus Addresses University Extension Society Audience on Matter of Great Interest in British Columbia

THE dominant attitude in Canadian-American relations is friendly, despite the fact that people, who are normally friendly, become antagonistic when certain issues are under discussion, maintained Professor H. F. Angus, of the University of British Columbia, in a lecture on "Canadian Opinion About the United States, and Its Effects on Canadian-American Relations," given under University Extension Society auspices last evening at Victoria College.

Professor Angus, who at times showed a delicate irony, gave a report of an investigation he made into opinions, widely held in British Columbia, about the United States and the attitudes of mind behind these opinions.

"The importance of these opinions and attitudes is two-fold," he said. "They help to condition Canadian policy in matters which concern the relations between the two countries, and they form the background with which interested parties must reckon, if they wish to carry on successful propaganda in support of any particular policy."

A propagandist to be really successful, he further maintained, had to be sincere, and, despite any lip service paid to scientific thought, must retain his self-respect.

SOCIOLOGICAL SECTION

This study of opinion and attitudes throughout Canada, toward the United States, was the sociological section of a wider survey of Canadian-American relations undertaken by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Other sections, it was explained, dealt with Canadian history, viewed as a part of North American history, with the economic relations of Canada and the United States in connection with such things as tariffs, labor movements, migration and investment of capital, with diplomatic relations and the settlement of international disputes.

The purpose of the survey was the study of healthy international relations, with a view to having a standard of reference. Studies on the Canadian side had been given priority because, for obvious reasons,

GATHERS EVIDENCE

The lecturer explained that evidence supplied by interviews and questionnaires, gave a fairly convincing picture of opinions and attitudes prevalent in British Columbia. It should be remembered this was a peculiarly composite community, and that of the adult population of the province, not more than about 90,000 were born and educated here. The remainder had come to British Columbia with some earlier background. It followed opinions and attitudes must be expected to show an unusual degree of individuality, corresponding to individual experiences, and that British Columbia was less likely than elsewhere to find opinions and attitudes determined by professional or occupational tendencies, or by class consciousness, or by territorial distribution.

There could be, for instance, no traditional view of Canadian-American relations, based on the experience of the community, though in Eastern Canada this historical heritage might be important. On the other hand, education (whether in the schools or in the homes) was exceptionally important. In the future a more self-contained community might be expected, of whom a majority would have been born and educated in the province, more homogeneous in outlook, though perhaps, more narrowly "provincial."

OFFERED STANDARD

Very great importance was attached to the U. S. States as a standard of comparison and many of the judgments were likely to take the form of assessments of superiority or admissions of inferiority. The former tendency was very marked in connection with such questions as morality, crime, criminal procedure and order, banking and sportsmanship. Yet, curiously enough, the most bitter criticism might be made on these topics by people who would, without hesitation, rank the United States very high among civilized nations, and who might even be violently annoyed if an English visitor gave expression to the same criticisms. Perhaps this was because of a survival of colonialism which induced the expectation that English visitors should be on their guard against criticism. It was because Canadians felt that from their standpoint they were vulnerable to much the same type of criticism as Canadians directed against Americans. This latter reason might indicate the growth of a North American outlook.

It was peculiarly difficult to study attitudes. People were not naturally frank on such a subject, and even if they wanted to be frank they might not be good at self-analysis. Inevitably the question crept in, "What should my attitude be?" and the equally disturbing question, "What attitude is it in my interest to express?" Therefore, attitudes must be inferred from behavior and from answers to specific questions. Evidence seemed to point to the existence of a definitely envious or jealous attitude. This was quite consistent with the belief in superiority. It arose, naturally, from a belief that superiority of deserts was coupled with inferiority in economic achievement (i.e., with a smaller per capita real income).

"The dominant attitude is friendly," said the speaker. "One must not look for people who are definitely unfriendly, for there are not many of them. But one does find that people who are normally friendly, become antagonistic when certain issues are under discussion."

Moral and social questions were quite as likely to arouse controversy as were international disputes over boundaries, or public questions such as war debts. The reason being that social differences gave rise to a fear of contamination. Often this fear was absurd because of the triviality of the differences, or because universal tendencies were more pronounced in the United States than in Canada.

The lecturer explained that when he agreed to give the lecture he anticipated that his studies would be completed, and that he could speak of the work which had been done in other parts of Canada. He had been obliged to confine himself to his own observations in British Columbia, and, as even that part of the study was still in a flexible stage, he was unable to give a final opinion which his audience could give him, either as to their own opinions and attitudes, or as to those which they had reason to believe to be widespread in the community.

Oak Bay W.A. Plan Annual Dinner Soon

The Women's Auxiliary of Oak Bay United Church will hold its annual anniversary dinner on March 28, in the schoolroom, at 6:30 o'clock. Rev. W. D. Willan, of Queens Avenue United Church, New Westminster, will be the guest speaker. Details for the dinner were discussed at the meeting of the auxiliary, held yesterday afternoon in the church parlor. Mrs. A. J. Gerry presided and there was a large attendance of members.

Tentative plans were made for a luncheon in April and a play in May. Mrs. G. B. Switzer reported on the group meetings held at the members' homes to permit the ladies of the church to become better acquainted. So popular have these group meetings become that several more will be held this month. Letters of appreciation for flowers were read from friends of the W.A. who have been ill. The devotional period was taken by Mrs. Margaret Maloney.

Concert Tonight Will Aid Church

"Humorous Variety" is the title of the programme arranged for tonight at the Mount View High School, Carey Road, commencing at 8 o'clock. The affair is being held under the auspices of St. Mark's Church. Special music has been secured and well-known artists will take part. There will be dances, orchestra selections, vocal and piano accordion solos, several skits and conjuring.

Among the artists taking part are Mr. William Harkness, the magician, Miss Doreen Daniels, Mr. Jack Trace, Mr. E. H. Prentice, Messrs. Ernest Fullerton and J. Haggart, Mrs. Ruby Moore, Mrs. Owen Jull, Mr. Stanley James and Mr. Percy McKeiburn. A novelty orchestra will be heard and Mrs. Moore's orchestra will play.

The committee, which has been working hard to make this affair a success, includes Rev. Owen Jull, Mr. P. E. George, Mr. W. A. McMillin and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Clarke. The proceeds will go to the church funds.

Y.P.S. News

JAMES BAY

The James Bay Y.P.S. held an interesting meeting Monday. After a devotional period led by Miss Margaret Davey, a short business meeting was held. Rev. W. R. Brown then led the group in discussion. It was the second time this form of meeting had been held at James Bay, and it was voted interesting and educational by the present. At the conclusion a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Brown.

CENTENNIAL

The weekly meeting of Centennial Young People's Society was held on Tuesday evening in the church parlor. Miss Dorothy Harris, vice-president, was in the chair. The meeting opened with a devotional programme, led by Miss Elsie Davidson. Several items of business were dealt with, including a resolution from the Baptist Young People's Society in regard to the proposed beer and wine legislation. The resignation of the president was also read to the society. The main part of the programme was in charge of the discussion group and two speakers were heard. Charlie Ennals read a paper on the "Life of St. Paul," and Miss Margaret Awmack gave an interesting talk on the "First Council of the Christian Church Held in 50 A.D." The meeting closed with a hymn.

The regular monthly meeting of the Victoria Local Council of Women will be held in the Y.W.C.A. Monday, March 11, at 2:30 p.m. MaFor Leeming will address the meeting on the subject of "Civil Administration." Members are requested to bring a friend.

Clubs and Societies

Wilkinson Road W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of the W.M.S. of Wilkinson Road United Church was held on Tuesday at the home of Rev. and Mrs. William Allan, with a good attendance of members. The president, Mrs. A. Allison was in the chair. Encouraging reports from heralds and secretaries were received. Mrs. Massey reported that several pupils in the Sunday School received honors in recent temperance examinations.

An instructive discussion of the "Kingdom of God" movement was led by Mrs. S. Jones, Mrs. Steele and Mrs. Ayris. In connection with this movement the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Forrest, Old West Road, Tuesday, at 10 a.m. The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. W. Allison, who gave an inspiring talk on the theme, "Fichers of Men."

Vocal solos were given by Mrs. A. V. Simpson, accompanied by Mrs. W. J. Jones. A letter of greeting from the recent Presbyterian was read by the delegate, Mrs. J. Edge. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, April 2, in the church, when Rev. A. S. Imrie, D.D., will be the guest speaker. Mrs. W. J. Jewell closed the meeting with the Benediction, after which dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Chinook Club

The Chinook Girls' Club entertained recently at a party at the home of Miss Winnie Moir, Russell Street. Dancing was enjoyed throughout the evening, the prizes being won by Misses Betty Barlow, Eva Holland, Winnie Moir and Messrs. Wallace Moir, Jack Wallace and Frank Mallit. Miss Beatrice Stromkins delighted the guests with a tap dance, and Mr. George Tait played violin selections. At midnight a buffet supper was served by the hostesses, assisted by members of the club. The invited guests included Misses Joan Hopkins, Doris Burrows, Lillian Painter, Faith Caley, Beatrice Stromkins, Betty Barlow, Eva Holland, Verma Moore, Violet Medley, May Wright, Beatrice Williams, Pearl Winters and Messrs. W. Lewis, Jim Booth, Jack Price, Wallace Moir, E. Townsend, Jack Wallace, Earl Sarisat, Carl Coates, Willie Somerville, Frank Mallit, Frank Waring, George Tait, Harold Baker and Bill Stromkins.

The club is changing location of its clubhouse and will move at the end of the month to the room at present occupied by the Business and Professional Women's Club. A social is to be held for club members tonight at 8 o'clock, when it is hoped all members will be present. At the close of the business meeting a joint meeting was held with members of the board of the Children's Aid Society, when plans were discussed for the establishment of the contemplated clearing station, or "receiving foster home."

I.O.D.E. Activities

Members of the Edward Prince of Wales Chapter were guests of Miss Irene Terry, honorary regent, at dinner at the Empress Hotel, Wednesday evening, the affair being arranged to mark the end of the first year of the chapter's activities. Mrs. P. E. Corby, municipal organizing secretary, and Mrs. Gordon Smith and Miss A. B. Cooke were special guests. Others present were the officers of the chapter, who were all re-elected by acclamation, including Miss Dorothy Jeeves, regent; Miss Joanna Fisher, first vice-regent; Miss Madge Wallace, second vice-regent; Miss Helen Morton, treasurer; Miss Mary Adams, secretary; Miss Catherine White, standard-bearer; Miss Vera Cookson, educational secretary; Miss Gladys Dicks, Echoes secretary. On behalf of the members, the regent presented Miss Terry with a beautiful bouquet, and also to Miss Cooke. Corsage bouquets were presented to Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Corby.

Cowichan Chapter

DUNCAN, March 7. — Fifteen members attended a meeting of Cowichan Chapter, I.O.D.E., Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. F. R. Gooding. Mrs. F. W. Galloway presiding. It was reported the sum of $19.82 had been raised at the Founders' Day tea for the national endowment fund. Five dollars was voted to the Silver Jubilee cancer fund, and a prize will again be given to the third pupil in Grade 11. Mrs. Macklin, formerly a member of Malahat Chapter, was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. F. W. Galloway was chosen a delegate to the annual provincial meeting in Vancouver, April 10, 11 and 12, and Mrs. N. E. Suddaby alternate. Standing committees for the year were announced as follows: Child welfare and Sorority, Mrs. G. W. Bisset and Mrs. J. B. Green; work in India, Mrs. C. P. Deykin; immigration, Mrs. E. M. Dawson; hospital, Mrs. J. A. Kyle and Mrs. A. D. M. Mistart; Health Centre, Mrs. F. G. Christmas; War Memorial, Mrs. P. H. Price; national endowment fund, Mrs. F. W. Galloway; knitting, Mrs. A. Holson, Mrs. M. Inverarity and Mrs. Hodding.

Anglican Young People

"FISCES"
If March 8 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. and from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m., from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. and from 10:30 until midnight.

Be careful that the advice which may be offered by a know-it-all type of person on this date does not lead you to take the wrong action in a business or social matter. It will be good judgment to remember that sometimes experimenting with short cut methods results in the loss of valuable time, and if you try them this may be the outcome. Politeness—a business probably will counteract a tendency on the part of many to be abrupt to the point of rudeness. In social contacts it will be advisable to refrain from being overly familiar, regardless of how intimate you may be with those present. The wise man and woman on this date will keep a careful watch over their tempers and tongues, so as to avoid trouble. Married and engaged couples, as well as those whose hearts are aflame with love, will be wise not to say or do anything to arouse resentment by showing a decided preference for something they know the other party is prejudiced against.

If a woman and March 8 is your birthday, you do not have to worry about the future, for in all likelihood Fate will treat you most considerately. You must never allow your thoughts to be dominated by the fear of what may occur in the dim and vague hereafter. You are going to have a great many blessings, the result probably of friendly ships and marriage. Your ability

The child born on March 8 generally when it passes from infancy into juvenility, gives every evidence of intelligence. Its future may depend largely on the amount of care is given to its training, both in as well as out of school.

If a man and March 8 is your natal day, it may pay you to remember that while conservatism is an admirable trait, it can be carried to an extreme. If you adjust yourself to changing times, as well as conditions, you should make excellent progress. Married life is possibly the most suitable for you. ## Chapter to Celebrate At Birthday Luncheon

Owing to conflicting dates, the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.E., will be unable to commemorate the birthday of Victoria, March 14, as in former years. It was decided at yesterday's meeting to commemorate the chapter's own birthday, April 5, when a luncheon, with a full menu, will be served at the Hudson's Bay Company dining-room at 12:30 p.m., to which the public is invited. Reservations may be made at the Hudson's Bay Company.

An additional gift from members of the chapter, unable to attend the founder's day tea, February 13, will be an added acquisition to that fund. New members were received at yesterday's meeting and others proposed for membership.

MAKE DONATION

Mrs. Cotford, Echoes secretary, gave a splendid report of the Municipal Chapter meeting, making special mention of the annual meeting to be held in the New Thought Hall, March 14, commencing at 9:45 a.m. All members were invited to attend. A sum of money was donated to the King George Silver Jubilee cancer fund.

Mrs. Pillar, educational secretary, reported letters were written to the two isolated schools in which the chapter is interested. The illustrated London News, donated by the regent, Mrs. Colin Cummins, to Sir James Douglas School, was gratefully received. Mrs. T. B. Monk was appointed convener for the care of soldiers' graves.

Mrs. Bertha Parsons gave the highlights of the recent annual meeting of the Provincial Local Council, and also emphasized the value of affiliation with such a representative women's society.

Miss Josephine Crease was elected delegate to the provincial annual meeting in Vancouver, April 9. The city has granted permission to the chapter to sell leather on August 26.

Qualicum Beach

Miss Dorothy McKenzie has returned from Vancouver, after having spent two weeks at her home in New Westminster.

Mrs. Frank Jones, one of the earliest settlers in Qualicum Beach, and now residing in Port Langley, fell, on Monday, and had the misfortune to break her hip. She is now a patient at the Royal Columbian Hospital at New Westminster.

Mr. J. C. Bailey went to Duncan and returned on Wednesday, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. H. Cameron.

Hostess at Empress

Mrs. W. L. Rogers was hostess at a charmingly arranged bridge party yesterday afternoon in the Elizabethan room of the Empress Hotel. The tea table was attractive with bowls of daffodils and tulips, and Mrs. J. McInven poured tea. The players were Mrs. Gray (Minneapolis), Mrs. T. Mattick, Mrs. G. H. Kingham, Mrs. W. J. Alder, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. L. B. Bing, Mrs. A. D. Macfarlane, Mrs. Sargison, Mrs. Carron Jameson, Mrs. J. H. Baker, Mrs. Cyril Penner, Mrs. T. R. Cusack, Mrs. F. F. Brimer and Mr. F. Moore.

Going to England

Madame de Negri, of Shanghai, a sister of Mr. G. A. Tisdall, Somerset, arrived recently to visit her brother and sister-in-law at "The Grange." When she leaves tomorrow, she will take with her Miss Helen M. Tisdall, her niece, for a trip to California and thence to New York and England. Miss Tisdall will be away for six months or more.

Leave for Tour

The Misses Muriel and Lena Galt have left for New York, where they will be joined by their sister, Mrs. Springett, of Montreal, and from there they will all sail for Rio de Janeiro, and after a tour in Brazil they will visit in England before returning home in several months time.

To Visit Here

Col. A. J. Johnson, of the United States marine corps, will arrive in Victoria today to visit with G. H. Landen and P. N. Soden, who are at the Empress Hotel from Montreal.

Here From Prairies

Mr. and Mrs. D. Kolomas, of Hilliard, Alberta, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Mercier, of St. Claude, Manitoba, were among the visitors who arrived here from the Prairies yesterday and registered at the James Bay Hotel.

Honeymoon in City

Mr. and Mrs. James Hastie (nee Polberg), whose wedding took place in New Westminster last Saturday, are spending a few days of their honeymoon in Victoria.

Party Much Enjoyed

A surprise party was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. F. Holland, 1325 Cook Street, in honor of her daughter, Margaret, who was celebrating her nineteenth birthday. Red tulips and daffodils were arranged with charming effect in the drawing-room and on the supper table. Games were played and dancing enjoyed. A decorated birthday cake held the place of honor on the supper table, and many lovely gifts were received by Miss Holland. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Holland, Mrs. G. Summers, Miss Dorothy Gold, Miss Hazel Oake, Messrs. J. E. Ball, W. Barnes, Bob Morrison and Reginald Holland.

Surprise Party

An enjoyable surprise party was held Wednesday afternoon by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the City Temple in honor of Mrs. J. McGuire and Mrs. A. Peters, at their home, Arbutus Road. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. McGuire, Mr. and Mrs. A. Peters, Messdames T. Clarke, A. E. Humphries, G. Holt, L. T. Smith, H. Conke, J. Munn, J. B. Black, C. M. Bates, F. Milne, A. Dash, R. Hood, R. Morrison, F. G. Fox, H. E. Hebdon, W. Williams, P. Waterhouse, M. Hansen, R. Peters, L. Conder, E. Powers, G. S. Wilson, Misses E. and M. Herd, Captain B. Gladstone and Mr. L. Cox.

Entertains Members' Wives

Mrs. Herbert Anson was hostess at a charmingly arranged tea at her home, Newport Avenue, yesterday afternoon, the affair being in honor of wives of members of the Provincial Legislature. The tea table was

First Birthday Celebrated by Malahat Branch

Of special significance to the Women's Auxiliary to the Malahat Branch of the Canadian Legion was the birthday party held in the S.L.A.A. Hall on Wednesday evening in honor of the first anniversary of the branch's inception. To celebrate the occasion the Auxiliary had as its guests members of the Malahat Branch of the Legion, and a representation from the Cowichan W.A. A short meeting of the branch, to which the Duncan ladies were invited, consisted of the usual opening exercises and the reading of the minutes.

Comrade G. Orr was chairman for the programme, which was as follows:

Musical monologues, Comrade H. Grainger, (a) "Laska," (b) "Lesson of the Water Mill."

Songs, Mrs. J. C. Rathbone, (a) "For the Years to Come," (b) "When You Come Home."

Violin solos, Mrs. E. Nightingale, (a) "Shepherd's Dance," (b) "Jocelyn."

Humorous songs, Comrade W. Fish.

Songs, Mrs. C. Page, (a) "Roses of Picardy," (b) "Perfect Day."

Community singing, led by H. Grainger.

Several interesting contests were arranged, and prizes were won by Mrs. Jarvis, Mr. F. Bomford, Mrs. Saunders and Mrs. Fielden.

After supper, Mr. F. Bomford, president of the Cowichan Branch of the Legion, complimented the local W.A. for its excellent year, and especially for its choice of Mrs. H. Grainger as president. On behalf of the W.A. he presented Mrs. Grainger with the W.A. past president's badge. Congratulations were also extended to the branch by Mrs. W. H. Purver, president of the Cowichan W.A. Mr. Bomford assisted Mrs. Grainger with the first cut in the artistically-iced cake, which was adorned with one candle and an exact replica of the W.A. badge, beautifully done in color. The decorating of the cake was the work of Mrs. Van Valkenburg and Miss D. Scates. Dancing concluded the evening.

The W.A. executive responsible for the success of the event included Mrs. Grainger, Mrs. P. Watson, Mrs. Duggan, Mrs. J. Davidson, Mrs. Price, Mrs. Mailand, Mrs. J. Bell and Mrs. C. Page.

converting the dis-ease into ease or freedom from trouble.

Through faith, either in the physician or his remedy, the adult usually finds confidence and patience until Dr. Nature brings recovery, but this consolation is denied to little children. As H. C. Cameron has said: "They have no belief in the efficacy of the remedies, which are applied with such vigor and persistence."

The taking of medicines by children depends on the taste, but much more on their mental attitude towards them. This mental attitude is created by the mother or nurse. When caring for the child they must have confidence that he will take the medicine, assume that attitude, and act accordingly.

Medicine should be a minor item in the child physician's armamentarium.

Francis Willard Tea Is Held by W.C.T.U.

Under the auspices of Rockland Park W.C.T.U., a number of enthusiastic people gathered at the home of Mrs. James Hood, 2023 Belmont Avenue, Monday, the occasion being a commemorative meeting in memory of Frances W. Willard, founder of the order.

The Rev. W. R. Brown gave an informative address on the present situation of the liquor traffic in the province, and suggested methods of resisting it. In thanking the speaker, those present agreed to write personal letters to the members of the Legislature for their respective districts, protesting against wine and beer being served in restaurants and other public eating places. Mrs. Travis gave two sacred solos. The meeting closed with thanks to the hostess and those who had made the afternoon such a success.

Medicines and Faith

Swift has said that the best doctors in the world are Dr. Diet, Dr. Quiet, and Dr. Merryman.

These doctors, of course, are only the assistants; the big chief is Dr. Nature, whose office assistants are Dr. Sunshine, Dr. Freshair, and Dr. Pure-Water.

There are a few specific drugs in existence—those which effect a complete cure without the help of nature's aids, mentioned above.

However, there are a goodly number of medicines which help towards a cure, and many more which alleviate symptoms of disease that the patient feels.

These medicines help the patient to bear his suffering, and are therefore extremely valuable, but parents must appreciate the fact that they do not cure their children of disease, although they do help towards removing the first syllable from the word disease, sometimes magically

Court Liberty, Juvenile Foresters will hold its monthly meeting today at 8 p.m., when new candidates will be initiated. A social will be held after the meeting. Members are reminded to bring cakes.

Another of the popular Foul Bay Junior Community Association dances will be held this evening in the Margaret Jenkins School, Foul Bay. There will be a four-piece orchestra and a novelty pivoting contest, for which prizes will be given. Dancing will continue from 9 until 12:30 o'clock.

"WHEN Mrs. Brickenden ENTERTAINS AFTER THE HUNT I OFTEN MAKE HOT BISCUITS"

and here's how I make them"

... says Rosabelle McKee, cook at "Dorindale," country residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. P. Brickenden.

"The even consistency, uniform richness and perfect smoothness of Nestlé's Evaporated Milk makes it ideal for use in these biscuits," she continues. "I also use it, of course, for many other things such as soups, omelettes, creamed dishes, waffles, custards, blanc-manges, cakes, pie fillings, frozen desserts, candies and so forth. I find that it definitely improves them."

You, too, will find Nestlé's the ideal evaporated milk. It contains all the concentrated goodness of the purest cow's milk. More than half the water is removed. Not a thing is added! Because its generous butter-fat content never varies Nestlé's gives absolutely uniform results in cooking. Try this rich, pure milk in your next recipe. Your grocer has it.

THE LOVE FLIGHT

By Joe Brown

CHAPTER XI

Chaufeur! Anne! Don't tell me you're a lamb, Mrs. Beasley said, looking at Anne closely. "Is he handsome?"

"Is who handsome?" Anne said, frowning for time. She must be wary. Not overdo affection of indifference. Already that empty little head beside her was busy spinning webs of intrigue, of scandal, with which to regale ears attuned to the merest whisper of it.

"Why, your chauffeur, of course. No use denying, darling. I can tell from the way you spoke."

"Why, yes. He is handsome, come to think of it," Anne cut in. "He's not half bad, either, as chauffeurs go. Rather intelligent. Thanks for calling him to my attention. He might be worth cultivating, seeing we're in the same service."

"Oh, bother!" Mrs. Bruno pouted. "You would spoil a perfectly choice morsel. For a moment I suspected a romance."

Anne's laugh was convincing. Then her ruse had gone over. But she could bite off her tongue for the right way in which it had tripped over Carl. Yet there had been nothing else to do. She must stop Mrs. Bruno spinning. That was protection for Carl as well as for herself.

"Bee Bee," Anne's voice flattered, "you're a hopeless sentimentalist, but you're a lamb and I don't know what I'd do without you. You're the only girl I know who can keep a secret. Remember, not a word to Maids."

"And Craig?"

"Not a word to Craig, for the present."

"But if you marry him—you will in the end, you know—I'm not sure you aren't making a mis—"

"Darling," Anne's hand reached for Mrs. Bruno's, clasped it tightly. "Please trust me, won't you? I'm doing the very best for both of us—for Craig and me. I'll tell you all about it just as soon as ever I can. You'll be the first to know, the very first."

Mrs. Bruno brightened. Then there was something she ought to know—a woolly head in the woodpile. She was a woman who could keep a secret. Even Anne, whom she once suspected of being a bit patronizing and disdainful, recognized her as being apart from the other felines in their set. It would be torture not to tell Bruno, but she'd have to bear it. Bruno would be sure to blab.

Mrs. Bruno returned the pressure of Anne's hand.

"Don't worry," she said. "If I talk, it will be in my sleep, and Bruno's taken a room at the far end of the hall to be near the upstairs bar."

"You are a lamb. Then I'll dash along. I'm afraid I'm terribly late as it is."

"If that red-headed freak rags you, give her the sack and come straight to us. But she wouldn't dare, of course. You keep her in her place, naturally—let her understand you are Anne Austin, the Anne Austin."

Anne smiled knowingly. She had a vision of herself trying to play haughty with Madame Hoag.

"Madame understands many things," she said enigmatically. "I'm really quite fond of her. I simply must tear along now, Bee Bee. You'll hear from me shortly, and meantime just forget you've seen me, there's a dear."

Anne scudded down the street, leaving Mrs. Bruno in such a whirl of suspicion, of curiosity, of pride and of thwarted desire for throwing scandal bombs that she plumped into her car and ordered the chauffeur to drive to a fashionable club and to be quick about it, she was weak as water. It would take at least three of the club specials to convince her she hadn't been hit on the head by a golf ball gone wild.

Carl Case was waiting to hand Anne into the blue car. She had been fortunate in her shopping this morning. The collections were varied and well chosen, so that she had been able to make quick decisions. Madame would be pleased, she was sure. She was a little breathless now and her dark eyes were fathomless wells in which reflected clouds of her troubled thoughts as they swirled and tumbled. Had she really succeeded in wheedling Mrs. Bruno into temporary silence? Would her cousin Maids learn of her whereabouts and start a row? Did Mrs. Bruno suspect about Carl? Would Craig Braden find her, tempt her again with the glittering gift of his name, his wealth, the luxury she had known tables set with lace, silver, exotic foods, wines like rubies and like yellow sunshines—she ate at the servants' table—boxes of orchids and gardenias and her favorite golden roses with hearts like the dawn. Anne shook her shoulders, threw back her head to fling off the nostalgia of dreams.

"World closing in again?" Carl asked. He leaned close so that his lips were against her ear.

"Not exactly. Just threatening. If she moved, his lips would graze her cheek."

"Can I help?"

"Not just now. Later, perhaps. I'll be waiting."

"I know."

Anne moved. Reaching Bois Joli, Anne went directly to her room. She would freshen up, change into her uniform and hurry to Madame's apartment. She must make room in the gown, closets for the new models. How she did not know; the closets were already packed.

She stood before her mirror regarding her left cheek. It looked smooth and cool. Strange that it should look so, considering that it was burning hot where lips had brushed it ever so lightly when she had turned her head in the car. She laid her hand over the burning mark. Her hand was trembling. She was conscious of her heart beats, a delicious thrill in her breast. Even if the world did close in, it couldn't squeeze her too painfully now.

She stopped by Bats' room to inquire if she might go to the gown closets without disturbing Madame. Madame was out, Bats informed her, and it would be quite all right for her to go weeding through the "carpet rags." There'd be an hour at least until Madame returned.

Outside the door of the circular boudoir Anne listened. She must not surprise Madame, who had given Anne orders to appear only when summoned. No sound came from within. Cautiously Anne opened the door and stepped inside.

She had a feeling she was not alone. The sum of Madame hung over the rooms like a living, tangible thing. So definite, so vital, so arresting in word, manner and action was Madame that even after she had gone from a place a part of her remained, vibrant, in the air.

Anne advanced to the centre of the room, stood there uneasily. Strange that a phantom presence should be so disturbing. Was she going jittery? She'd had enough to edge her nerves lately. The encounter with Mrs. Bruno this morning had not helped. If it were not for Carl—

Click! What was that? A key turning in a lock? What lock? Someone beyond, in the gown room, perhaps. Bats? It would be like Bats to snoop in Madame's absence.

An instinct sent Anne's eyes fleeing to the tall swinging mirror opposite her. She could feel her throat contract to scream, but no sound came from lips that framed the high note of fright. Adolph Hoag, Jr., stood in front of the door, directly behind her, his body swaying unsteadily, his little button eyes leering horribly at that second frozen image of herself in the mirror.

One minute, that was an eternity of suspended thought, suspended action!

"If I move forward, casually, as though I'd not seen him," Anne thought, "I may be able to reach the mirror and ring the bell that summons Bats before he guesses what I'm about."

Instantly formed, the plan was as instantly abandoned. No use. Those black buttons of eyes in their inflamed fields of saffron had met her own in the mirror. Dolph was waiting for her to move, to show some sign of fear, of resistance to his purpose, whatever it was. That would be his cue for action.

One chance remained. If she could gain the door to the gown room, slam it shut and lock it before his bungling body could block the way, she'd be safe enough. There were servants' bells in that room too.

But no sooner was it conceived than escape in the direction of the gown room was cut off by Dolph himself, who in some uncanny way had divined Anne's intention. But one course remained—to use her wits, to fend for time.

"Heavens, Mr. Hoag, you did give me a fright!" Anne said, turning to face the swaying figure and forcing her stiff lips to a smile. "I came to get a gown of Madame's for repair. I disturbed you, I'm sorry. I'll just get the gown—it's there in the closet—and take it to my room."

Anne stepped forward toward her tormentor—one, two, three steps. That was to give him the impression she had no fear of him.

"None you don't, baby, none of that. Guess again." He spread his thick arms wide, shook his clumps of shoulders, and rolled his bullet head that was too small for his bulk.

She must try another tack. Scorn might last him into submission.

"I hope you're not going to be unpleasant, Mr. Hoag," she said. Her voice was clear and cold, her chin high, her eyes twin points of flame that would have scared any except the grossest of flesh.

"I came for Madame's gown. Stand aside, please. The gown must be ready for luncheon, so there's no time for these silly antics."

He lowered his head. The lash infuriated him.

"Pulling the hoity-toity, huh?" His voice was thick, his coarse lips loose. "Chuck it, baby. I gotcha. Gotcha right, see? Too good to go out on a lil' racket with Dolph, huh? Not too good for a go with a chauffeur, though. Rather have the chauffeur, the scullery maid's cast-off, huh? An' you pulling the hoity-toity on me. Ha, ha, ha, ho, ho—"

Gorge and suppressed laughter were swelling his fat neck until it extended beyond where the line of his jaw should have been. Neck and face were not red. They were livid crimson.

Anne thought, "A blood vessel will burst. That will still his foul tongue and stop him tormenting me. The chauffeur Carl, of course. The scullery maid? Bats. Bats had been spreading poison again. She remembered now—a fleeting glimpse of Bats at the back of the house as she drove away with Carl that morning. Bats had found a ready victim for her poison."

Anne laughed, too. The laugh was harsh, the scorn in it so real, so stinging that it was as though fingers squeezed the noisy taunt from Dolph's throat. He batted his little eyes, all but lost his balance.

"You've no idea how absurd you look," Anne said evenly, "teetering like some great shaggy creature out of the zoo. With a chain and a spiked collar, you'd be perfect."

The fellow Anne had expected came—deep, menacing, like a thunderclap. The creature advanced on her, waving its arms, rolling its head.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Red Wits and Black Wits

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Were I to choose 'twixt fox and crow just which to pick I'd hardly know.

There is no greater flatterer in the Green Forest or on the Green Meadows than is Blacky the Crow when he hopes to gain something thereby. He is crafty, is Blacky. But these same things are true of Reddy Fox. No one yet ever had a chance to accuse Reddy Fox of lacking in sharp wits. Mistakes he makes, as everybody does, but Reddy's wits are always keen and active.

Now, Reddy knew perfectly well that Blacky the Crow wanted something of him and this was why he was saying such pleasant things. Blacky the Crow knew that Reddy knew this thing and that if he would make use of Reddy as he hoped to be must contrive to keep Reddy wholly in the dark as to what he wanted.

So as they sat there, Reddy Fox on the snow with his tail curled around his feet to keep them warm, and Blacky the Crow in the top of a little tree above Blacky's head, they were playing a sort of game. It was Reddy against Blacky wits.

Reddy was trying to outguess Blacky and Blacky was trying to outguess Reddy and both were enjoying it. People with sharp wits always enjoy matching their wits against other sharp wits.

When Reddy Fox said that in spite of his fine appearance he had forgotten when last he had had a good meal, Blacky pretended to think he was joking. "You surprise me," said he. "Whatever is the matter with my good friend Reddy that he goes hungry when he no longer has anything to fear from Bowser the Hound. By the way, I saw Bowser the other day."

At this, just for an instant, Reddy's eyes flew wide open, then they half closed again until they were just two yellow slits. But quickly as he closed them, Blacky has seen that startled surprise.

"Yes," said Blacky, "I saw Bowser the other day."

"Yes," said Blacky, "I saw Bowser the other day, or at least someone who looked just like him. Wouldn't you like to have him back here, Reddy?"

"Most decidedly no," replied Reddy with great promptness. "A dog is a nuisance. He isn't of any use in the wide, wide world."

"Not even to drive off Old Man Coyote?" asked Blacky slyly, for he knew that more than once the Hound had helped Reddy out of trouble with Old Man Coyote.

Reddy pretended not to hear this. "I don't believe you saw Bowser," said he. "I don't believe anybody will ever see Bowser again. I hope not anyway." And Blacky knew by the way Reddy said it that it would be quite useless to ask Reddy to help Bowser home.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

THE PROPER DIET IN RHEUMATISM

It is now definitely agreed among physicians that meats are not responsible for causing rheumatism, nor do they aggravate the symptoms whatever.

It is now agreed that starch foods are at least partly to blame for the symptoms of rheumatism and that they aggravate these symptoms.

However, a very interesting discovery has been made by Drs. Frank J. Sladen, Dwight C. Ensign, and Clark M. McColl, Detroit. In a study of 148 persons without arthritis (rheumatism) and 138 persons with rheumatism, it was found that the rheumatic patients did not really eat any more starchy food than did those who did not have rheumatism.

In spite of this, however, a craving for sweets was confessed, and on closer examination of the starch diet it was found that the rheumatic or arthritic patients had a tendency to choose starch foods of the "non-protective" kind and an insufficient amount of the starch foods of the "protective" kind.

Thus the rheumatic patients favored sugar and sweets, refined cereals and pastries, potatoes and white flour and were shy on the use of unrefined cereals, butter, cream, milk and fruits and vegetables—that is, starch foods that contain large amounts of bulk or roughage and protective substances, and also minerals and vitamins.

The patients were encouraged to change from the non-protective starch foods to the protective starch foods, and to use the same amounts of the foods as before. These physicians state that following this change there was a definite improvement in weight, bowel or intestinal action, the condition of the joints and the general efficiency and well-being in these cases of arthritis.

Now the point to remember is that the non-protective foods are all good foods, and if fruit or vegetables are eaten regularly there will be no lack of minerals and vitamins and of general protection of body tissues from the standpoint of infection.

However, when there is definite arthritis or rheumatism, from the food standpoint anyway, the protective starch foods as mentioned above should be eaten.

It should be remembered, of course, that diet is not the only factor in the cause or aggravation of rheumatic symptoms.

At the Theatres

LOCAL PICTURE SHOWS TONIGHT

"Black Robe" Has Premiere Here
This Evening at 8:30 o'clock—
Smart Production

"The Black Robe," Victoria's motion picture, filmed and produced at Willows Park, will have its Canadian premiere showing at the Empire Theatre tonight at 8:30 o'clock. The doors will open at 8 o'clock.

Local theatre-goers, when reviewing this production, are assured screen entertainment of the highest rank. "The Black Robe" has scored heavily at the American box offices, the picture having been released for exhibition in the United States four months ago. Chief among the successful American runs was the success at the Selwyn Theatre, New York. This engagement drew the attention of executives of the Columbia Pictures, who, it is reported, entered into a contract with Northern Films to distribute "The Black Robe" throughout the United States and Europe.

The cast is headed by Nick Stuart, well known to theatre fans, and the beautiful Lucille Brown, who has many Hollywood screen triumphs to her credit. The story is an adaptation from Guy Morton's novel, "The Flame Song," starring Bernice Claire and J. Harold Murphy, who will be offered on the same programme.

MARX BROTHERS NOW IN ROMANO COMEDY

The Four Marx Brothers are now appearing on the screen of the Romano Theatre in "Duck Soup," a clever comedy which presents the four brothers at their best. As the added attraction, the management is showing Edmund Lowe and Dickie Moore in "The Devil Is Driving."

PLAYHOUSE The vital theme of marital holidays is probed in its many ramifications by Ann Harding and a notable cast in "Enchanted April," now showing at the Playhouse. The story, provided by the famous novel by "Elizabeth," delves into the adventure of four women who flee from husbands and lovers.

COLUMBIA Elissa Landi, Italian-Viennese actress, made eight motion pictures in England, France and Sweden before coming to the United States. Her first production for Columbia studios, "Sisters Under the Skin," is now showing at the Columbia Theatre.

ARLISS TO PLAY HERE IN "THE IRON DUKE"

The long weeks of patient research, conducted by George Arliss into the details of the life of Wellington, whom he impersonates as star of "The Iron Duke," the Gaumont British dramatic and historical film de luxe, playing at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow was enlivened by many letters from people in all parts of the United Kingdom, who had learned of his activities and offered countless suggestions, and in some cases more or less valuable information on the subject of his quest. Perhaps the most singular relic that came into the star's possession as a result of this outside interest shown in his labors was a lock of hair. The sender stated that it was obtained from Wellington's head by her grandfather, who was employed to take a death mask of the Duke.

St. Patrick's Day Concert Arranged

Among the soloists to be heard at the forthcoming St. Patrick's Day concert, March 18, in the Royal Victoria Theatre, will be Madame Edith Mayell and Thomas Kelway. The St. Louis College Boys' Choir will be present. Miss Helen Ockenden will give piano selections, and there will be exhibitions of dancing and other attractive features. This annual concert, in aid of St. Louis College, has proved popular in former years, and the programme now being arranged lacks nothing of the spirit and interest. Members of the Young People's Club have tickets, and all information will be given by them, or by the special committee, consisting of Miss E. O'Neill, Neville Shanks and Fred Doherty.

No More Piles

Doctor's Prescription Does the Work

Few Pile sufferers know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel. This is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories so often may not give lasting relief and why cutting sometimes removes the pile tumor but leaves its exciting cause which may create a recurrence.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause. For this an internal medicine should be used.

HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, and acts to relieve congestion.

So isn't it better, when salves fail and before considering operation, to try this internal remedy when MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with money-back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives. (Adv.)

AMUSEMENTS

On the Screen
Capitol—Joan Crawford in "Forsaking All Others."
Columbia—"Sisters Under the Skin," starring Elissa Landi.
Dominion—Myrna Loy in "Wings in the Dark."
Playhouse—"Enchanted April," starring Ann Harding.

FLYING PICTURE AT THE DOMINION

Myrna Loy Plays With Cary Grant in "Wings in the Dark"—Exciting Plot

Cast in the role of a daredevil aviatrix, who risks life and limb for the sake of the man she loves, Myrna Loy, screen favorite, heads the cast of Paramount's "Wings in the Dark," which comes today to the Dominion Theatre.

Cary Grant—"tall, dark and handsome," is coupled with Miss Loy in the romantic leads of the picture, as an aviator who is a scientist and adventurer. His life is devoted to making flight safe through the perfection of instruments for blind flying.

On the eve of the trans-Atlantic flight, which will prove the complete success of his experiments, he is blinded by an accident.

Despairing of ever recovering his sight and disdaining charity, he retires to a cabin in the woods to brood. But Miss Loy, who loves him, persuades him to return to his work.

Just as his experiments are nearing completion the airplane is recovered from the company from whom he bought it. Then Miss Loy, in a final desperate effort to help him, undertakes a flight from Moscow to New York for an enormous purse.

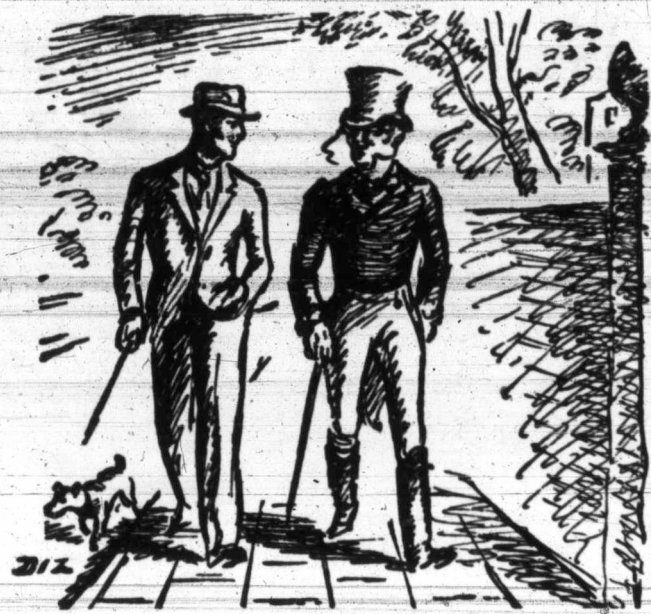

In a final, gripping climax Cary Grant goes aloft to bring Miss Loy down when she is fog-bound above the landing field at the end of the flight. An accident restores his sight and the two lovers are happily united.

TO PRESENT PLAYS

Three one-act plays will be presented in the City Temple, Friday evening, under the auspices of the Victoria Religious Education Council. The City Temple young people's organization, under the direction of Mrs. M. Hammond, will present one; Sidney Young People's Society will present the play, "A Mad Breakfast"; and Victoria West Y.P.S. will present the play, "Not Such a Goose," under the direction of Mrs. T. Milley. A collection will be taken.

"No, suh. Ah ain't got no use foh dem airplanes. Ah stays on terrah firmah, and mo' firmah de less terrah."

Letters to the Editor

THE HOME WORKER

Sir,—In today's Colonist, March 7, I notice a misprint in the letter entitled "The Home Worker." The nineteenth line which reads: "She is expected to work for twenty people," should read, "She is expected to work for twenty dollars and down as low as five dollars a month."

RUTH E. HOGARTH,
2350 Lee Avenue, Victoria, B.C.,
March 7, 1935.

BEER WITH MEALS

Sir,—You can place your own construction on the action of the Vancouver City Council in voting against the sale of light wines and beers with meals.

I was one of those a few years ago who doubted the wisdom of permitting beer or wine to be sold with meals. I have changed my opinion since seeing the way beer with meals works out.

Having to wait for the Vancouver steamer two hours the other night in Seattle, I wandered into a downtown establishment where beer is sold as well as food. In addition, so different from Vancouver, there was music.

I consumed a few drinks of light beer and listened to one of the finest concerts it has been my pleasure to hear in a long time.

Customers checked their hats and overcoats as they entered. Some ordered a light meal with and without beer; others ordered beer only. There was an air of refinement about the whole place. There were no loud arguments in progress, no profanity or other jarring noise, so prevalent in some Vancouver beer parlors.

During my two hours' delightful interlude no waiter rushed at my empty glass to hustle along the sale of beer, as is the custom in Vancouver. In fact, every time I wished to replenish my glass I had to beckon a waiter.

Why is it that we can not have a similar condition in Vancouver? Is it that the brewers of British Columbia have sufficient influence with the Government to say "you shall not interfere with our beer sales." The difference between the Vancouver and Seattle beer-parlor is that in Vancouver everything is directed at getting the consumer to drink as much beer as possible, while in Seattle the aim is to please the customer. Beer is but incidental to the operation of the establishment.

I contend that the Seattle system is far more conducive to temperance and decency than the beer-profit system we have in Vancouver.

Will some one tell me why the decent citizens of Vancouver who, exercising their legal right, partake of a glass of beer, are denied the right to drink that beer in clean, inviting, refined environment?

S. A. CAMERON,
Haro Street, Vancouver, B.C.,
March 6, 1935.

NATURAL PRODUCTS MARKET-ING ACT

Sir,—The scheme under this act will very shortly come into force, and it behooves the producers of vegetables, and also the lessors (owners) of land used therefore, to look carefully into its provisions.

I have attended one meeting, and read accounts of others, but nowhere have I heard any mention of the costs. It should be noted, therefore, that all expenses and compensations in connection with the act will be payable by the producers.

In the Okanagan, which is a comparatively limited district, and where the scheme only applies to apples, the levy for last year was $80,000. There, even with that large amount at their disposal, the only attempted control was practically confined to rail shipments in car lots, it being almost impossible to keep a check on smaller quantities.

On Vancouver Island, with dozens of small lots dotted all over the place, any attempt at effective control will not be feasible. The growers on this Island are never able to get good prices, as the cream of the market goes to imported low grade American produce. The small seasonal duties are imposed too late, and are too small to prevent dumping.

There is another vital point—i.e., the growers may be stopped selling by the board, and have to watch the same article being imported, and sold under their noses, while their own stuff is rotting, and there apparently is no power to prevent such importations.

Tariffs for the Prairies are unsuitable for British Columbia and vice versa.

The only solution would be for each Province to have separate tariffs, and also the power to control any particular produce being imported, either from abroad or from another Province.

There is still an opportunity to vote against the scheme being applied to Vancouver Island this year.

A policy of "wait and see" how it works on the Mainland would be wise, and would save the growers from a very expensive experiment.

W. BARCLAY HUNTON,
"Swaledale," Cobble Hill, B.C.,
March 6, 1935.

FINE VOICES IN VICTORIA CHOIR

Meistersingers to Appear in Recital Here on Friday, March 15

Beautifully blended voices, each with a sincere understanding of the other, can be found in Victoria's newest and popular choral group, the Meistersingers. In previous concerts the choral organization has been widely acclaimed by critics.

Victoria music lovers will have an opportunity of hearing this splendid choir in the Shrine Auditorium, Friday, March 15. The Meistersingers will appear in aid of funds for the Fairfield United Church.

Aside from the choir itself, many Victoria soloists who have earned recognition for work in previous recitals, have joined the Meistersingers and will be heard in numbers.

Pierre Timp, baritone, known as the "voice with the smile"; Mrs. Ursula Aldous, contralto; Mrs. Thelma Johns, soprano; Miss Phyllis Deville, soprano, and several others included in the membership roster of the Meistersingers will assist.

One of the features of the programme will be highlights from Bizet's colorful tragic opera, "Carmen." Operettas, including "The Student Prince" and "Robin Hood" will have a prominent place in the entertainment.

Tickets may be secured at Fletcher Bros. Music Store, Douglas Street.

Scottish Cup Will Be Resumed With Eight Teams Left

Glasgow Rangers Will Meet Motherwell in One of Feature Matches Tomorrow—Celtic Takes On Aberdeen—Arsenal and Sunderland Battle in Important English Tussle

GLASGOW, March 7 (CP).—Eight of Scotland's classic soccer teams meet Saturday in the fourth round of the Scottish Cup. Weeding out the lesser lights in previous rounds has left the remaining battles of the competition to First Division teams.

With exception of Airdrieonians, all the clubs in Saturday's games are well up in the league standings and close encounters are in prospect.

With an eye to both the cup and the league championship, Glasgow Rangers will meet Motherwell. Motherwell and Celtic received byes in the third round. Another big battle will see Aberdeen pitted against Celtic at Pittodrie.

Airdrieonians, who occupy thirteenth place in the standing, enter the Hearts of Midlothian and the remaining game is between Hamilton Academicals and St. Johnstone. There will be a full schedule of games in the Second Division of the league.

ENGLISH LEAGUE

LONDON, March 7 (CP).—The battle of the English League championship again brings the famous Arsenal club into the soccer spotlight Saturday. All eyes will turn to the Highbury ground, where Sunderland provides the opposition. The Gunners, with forty-two points, lead the league, while the Third Period—4, Portland, Arbour.

Touring Scottish Football Eleven May Perform Here

WHILE present plans call for only one game in British Columbia, at Vancouver on June 1, Victoria soccer fans are today anticipating a visit here late in May of the touring Scottish eleven which will visit Canada this year. The itinerary of the tourists, released some time ago, called for eight matches in Canada and four in the United States, but it is the consensus of opinion that if the Scottish players perform in British Columbia they will, in all probability, be brought here for one game. An early dispatch from Nanaimo stated that word was received from Sam Davidson, secretary of the D.F.A., that it is planned to have the Scottish team play at the Up-Island city. This was denied late last night by J. H. Richardson, secretary of the British Columbia Football Commission, with headquarters at Vancouver. Richardson stated that at the present time only one game has been arranged for British Columbia, and it is tentatively set for June 1 at Vancouver.

THREE MORE SWIM MARKS ESTABLISHED

Trio of Canadian Records Broken by Toronto Relay Squads

TORONTO, March 7 (CP).—Three more Canadian swimming records were ready for the books today after a meet here last night. All marks were made in relay events and officially timed by Canadian amateur officials.

Toronto Central Young Men's Christian Association's junior relay team broke the 400-yard record in the fast time of 3 mins., 57 secs. The old mark was 4 mins. and 3-5 secs.

Toronto Dolphins, composed of Louis Colman, Margaret Hall, Jean Caulfield and Dorothy Staples, broke their own 400-yard junior relay mark of 4 mins., 59 secs., by finishing in 4 mins., 53 3-5 secs.

The senior girls' team of Toronto Dolphins established a mark of 10 mins., 19 1-5 secs. for the 800-yard relay. It was the first attempt by a girls' team at this distance. Members of the team were Lillian Shields, Margaret Hutton, Betty Batchelor and Irene Pirie.

DUNCAN GOLF

DUNCAN, March 7.—Mrs. J. W. Rolston and Mrs. M. C. Koehlin, finishing one up, tied in the women's par competition at the Cowichan Golf Club Wednesday afternoon. Others competing were Mrs. Boyd Wallis, Mrs. K. F. Duncan, Mrs. W. M. MacLachlin, Mrs. J. S. Robinson, Mrs. R. Nugent, Mrs. J. Longhouse, Mrs. H. N. Watson, Mrs. W. Prest, Mrs. F. G. Aldersey, Mrs. M. M. White, Miss M. Wynne, Miss Beaver, Miss D. Peterson, and Miss Zeta Allen.

Ready for Crucial Game

PAUL ROWE DOUG PEDEN

Two more members of the Fifth Brigade Rugby fifteen, which will lock horns with North Shore All-Blacks tomorrow afternoon at MacDonald Park at 3 o'clock for the Rounsefell Cup, symbolic of the British Columbia senior championship. Rowe plays wing three-quarter, while Peden works in the pack, but may be seen on the back division against the visitors helping Roddy McInnes to defend the local line. This pair worked wonders against Varsity here in the McKechnie Cup match, presenting a stone-wall defence throughout. The Gunners finished up their training last evening and feel confident of bringing the trophy and title to Victoria.

Ontario Victorious In Curling Tourney

Captures Canadian Championship for First Time With Six Wins and One Defeat—Alberta Squad Finishes in Second Place

TORONTO, March 7 (CP).—The MacDonald's Brier Tankard, carrying with it the Canadian curling championship, moved into Ontario today for the first time in the nine-year history of the competition.

Gordon Campbell's rink from the Thistle Curling Club, Hamilton, swept through to the title with six straight victories, failing in their final match against Saskatchewan. Bobby Alexander's Calgary Curling Club rink, representing Alberta, captured second place, finishing with five wins and two losses.

The defending province, Manitoba, presenting a new rink, the Killarney Curling Club, faltered badly in the early play, but rallied to take the final four rounds. A Manitoba rink has captured six of the nine titles since play for the tankard began in 1927.

Behind Ontario and Alberta came Manitoba, Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan, tied with four victories and three defeats. Northern Ontario followed with three wins and four losses, and in last place were New Brunswick and Quebec, each with only one win in seven starts.

The Ontario rink, intact for its third consecutive year, is composed of Duncan, Campbell, Gordon Coates, Donald Campbell and Gordon Campbell. In 1933 the Hamiltonians were runners-up to Cliff Manahan's Royal Curling Club rink from Edmonton. Last year Campbell's men lost out in a close finish to Leo Johnson's Manitobans from Winnipeg.

The morning draw brought Ontario against Alberta. A win for Alberta would have tied the two rinks for the lead, but by winning, 15 to 8, Ontario's title was safe, for the result meant the second defeat for the Calgarians.

Ontario had two four-enders early in the match. Alberta kept within striking distance, scoring a three in the sixth, but Ontario was consistently good in the last six ends, taking five of them.

The final round marred Ontario's perfect record. Jim Black's Saskatchewan rink was in top form in the afternoon. The Westerners allowed Ontario only single counts in four ends, winning 10 to 4.

Not Interested In Fight Offer From Australia

BERKELEY, Cal., March 7 (AP).—Charles "Pop" Foster, manager of the world's welterweight champion, Jimmy McLarnin, decided definitely today he was "not interested" in a reported $25,000 offer to fight "Sluggo" Carroll, Australian titleholder, in Australia.

"That's a long way to go for that amount of money," Foster said. "We can get bigger purses fighting in this country. Besides we have promised to risk the title in a milk fund programme in New York this summer, probably against Barney Ross."

The final round marred Ontario's perfect record. Jim Black's Saskatchewan rink was in top form in the afternoon. The Westerners allowed Ontario only single counts in four ends, winning 10 to 4.

WRESTLING
LINCOLN, Neb.—Paul Jones, 220, Houston, Texas, defeated Buck Weaver, 238, Boston, two straight falls.
ST. LOUIS, Jim London, 202, St. Louis, threw Ed "Strangler" Lewis, 248, Los Angeles, 39-00.
TRENTON, N.J.—Emil Dusek, 212, Omaha, and Jim Brown, 225, Verona, Mo., drew, one fall each.

PORTLAND, Ore.—Gus Sonnenberg, 205, Boston, tossed Jules Strongbow, 275, Oklahoma, two out of three falls; Tex Cox, 220, Los Angeles, beat Jack Washburn, 240, Boston, two out of three falls.

CINCINNATI — Varies Milling, 127 1-2, Los Angeles, outpointed Orval Drouillard, 129, Windsor, Ont. (10).

H. B. WITTER RE-ELECTED

Returned as President of Victoria Lawn Tennis Club—Reports Given

H. B. Witter, well-known figure in local tennis and badminton circles, was yesterday evening re-elected president of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club at the annual meeting, held in the Belmont Building. It marks the fourth successive year that this popular official has been returned at the head of the veteran tennis club.

Dr. E. W. Boak, veteran official who has many times been president of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club, was returned to office as vice-president. F. A. Jackson, hard-working and efficient secretary, was also re-elected.

C. F. Todd, was named honorary president. Mrs. James Dunsmuir, R. H. Pooley, K.C., M.P.P., R. P. Butcher, Mayor David Leeming and Judge P. S. Lammman were elected as honorary vice-presidents.

Members of the executive committee were named as follows: Miss M. Phillips, D. M. Gordon, W. E. Gifford, H. S. Platt, E. Ware, J. D. D. Campbell and W. Dunbar.

Reports on the club's activities during 1934 were submitted and told of the remarkable progress made during a great season. Tournament profits showed a 100 per cent increase over the previous season, and the club was able to show good operating profit. A 40 per cent increase in the club membership was also reported.

The British Columbia and the Pacific Northwest senior sectional championships staged from August 6 to August 11, both dates inclusive, were an outstanding success. The attendance was far in excess of recent tournaments, and the standard of play was perhaps the highest in the history of the veteran lawn tennis club.

Dr. E. W. Boak, vice-president of the local club, and councillor at large for the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association, reported on his recent trip to Toronto, where he attended a meeting of the Dominion body. Victoria, Dr. Boak stated, has been awarded the Canadian championship this year, and Eastern Canada has promised to send some of its ranking players to compete in the different events. Leading California tennis players are also expected to come here for the meet.

Club officials and members look forward to a banner season in 1935, and judging by the enthusiasm shown at yesterday evening's meeting and the enrollment of thirty-five new members, early steps are being taken to make it the most successful since the inception of the veteran club more than four decades ago.

Present membership of the club is 241, but before the 1935 season is ushered in this number will be greatly augmented. With present members and officials lending every effort in a drive to make the coming season even more successful than the one that was officially brought to a close with the annual meeting, present prospects are bright.

Juvenile Branch Of Musical Arts Will Entertain

The Juvenile Branch of the Musical Arts Society will hold its monthly meeting at the New Thought Hall, Fort Street, tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. A good programme has been prepared, and Miss Phyllis Addison and Miss Dent, of the Russian Ballet School of Dancing, will be the guest artists. Parents and friends will be welcomed.

Duncan Player Is Eliminated

ERIC LENEY

Eric Leney, who was eliminated from the Canadian badminton championships yesterday at Ottawa when he dropped a hard-fought three-set match to Jack Belcher, Ottawa, in the quarter-finals. Leney was also put out of the mixed doubles with Margaret Taylor, Kelowna, in another extra-session tussle.

DUNCAN CONTENDER LOSES HARD MATCH IN QUARTER-FINALS

Up-Islander Drops Close Three-Set Tussle to Jack Belcher, Ottawa, 15-9, 8-15, 18-17—Dick Birch Survives—Mrs. Patrick Advances—Margaret Taylor Still In

OTTAWA, March 7 (CP).—First champions to meet defeat in the 1935 Canadian badminton championships which opened here this morning, Mrs. Anna Kier Patrick and R. E. ("Dick") Birch, of Vancouver, were dethroned as mixed doubles titleholders just before midnight by Mrs. James Barr and Leonard Schlemm, strong Montreal pair, in the quarter-finals.

Mrs. Barr, a former Scottish internationalist in badminton, tennis and golf, played as if inspired, while Schlemm patrolled the back court with precision as they drove the 1934 titleholders into error and defeat. The Montreal pair, who hold the Montreal City and District and Province of Quebec titles, earned the right to meet Margaret Robertson, Ottawa, and George Goodwin, Camp Borden, Ont., in one semi-final tomorrow.

In the other, Mrs. Bruce Ross and A. O. Jones, Winnipeg, will play Ruth Robertson and Bev. Mitchell, Ottawa.

All four of the women chosen by the committee as the top flight of the tournament came through three rounds at the Badminton Club of Ottawa. Of the four seeded men, only Leonard Schlemm, Montreal, Province of Quebec champion, fell by the wayside.

Mrs. Anna Kier Patrick, Vancouver, was conceded a good chance of defending her crown successfully after a brilliant showing throughout the day. She will meet Mrs. W. R. Walton, Jr., of Toronto, in one semi-final. In the other, Ruth Robertson, Ottawa, will face Margaret Taylor, Kelowna.

Mrs. Patrick is seeded one, Miss Robertson two, Mrs. Walton three, and Miss Taylor four. Beverly Mitchell, of Ottawa, finalist to Doug Grant, of Halifax, last year, and ranked No. 1 by the committee, will play Jack Belcher, of Ottawa, in one men's semi-final, while Rod Phelan, Toronto, and Dick Birch, Vancouver, will clash in the other.

Belcher was the man who scored today's biggest upset, knocking out Schlemm. Belcher had not been seeded in the first eight. Birch is seeded second, Phelan third, and Schlemm was fourth.

Tonight the large mix doubles field was being reduced to the semi-finals, while tomorrow morning and afternoon the men's and women's doubles will be run off, with all semi-finals tomorrow night, and the finals on Saturday.

Mitchell was given a fine battle by Jim Forsyth, of Winnipeg, in their quarter-final match. Scores were 16-18, 15-12, 15-10.

Belcher took the first game of his quarter-final match from Eric Leney, Duncan, dropped the second, and rallied in the third at 13-16. Belcher then scored four straight points, and with the advantage of service appeared headed for immediate victory. But the British Columbian secured service after a fault and tied the count at 17-17.

From this point both players fought every inch of the way. Leney dropped a shot outside the chalk mark to give the Ottawa player a win at 18-17.

Birch, faced elimination in his match with George Goodwin, of Camp Borden, Ont., when the Eastern player led 14-11 in the third game, but Goodwin weakened and Birch ran out the match, 15-12, 8-15, 17-14.

Phelan was in rare form to knock out the veteran C. L. Jones, of Winnipeg, in straight games, 15-8, 15-5.

Only one of the women's quarter-final matches went the limit of three games, Mrs. G. G. Pirt, of Winnipeg, extending Mrs. Walton by winning the first game at 12-14. After a close 11-9 victory in the second game, Mrs. Walton was in control of the third for an 11-4 win.

Mrs. Patrick overhauled Betty Oakes, Toronto, for an 11-5, 11-4 win, while Miss Taylor defeated Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, Montreal, 13-11, 11-8, and Miss Robertson won from Mrs. H. M. Hughes, Winnipeg, 11-6, 11-8.

Miss Oakes' win in second round this morning was the first upset of the tournament. She knocked out Margaret Robertson, strong Ottawa player, seeded fifth and expected to reach at least the quarter-finals, in a keenly-contested match, 5-11, 12-10, 14-13.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
Swanee River—Stephen C. Foster was born July 4, 1826, at Pittsburg. When he composed "Swanee River" he had neither seen nor heard of the river of this name. He tried several other river names called from a geographical index, and finally decided on Swanee for its euphony.

As a young man he had set out to become the best Ethiopian (jargon of minstrel song writers) called writer in the world, an ambition which he fulfilled most admirably. His "Swanee River," "Old Black Joe" and "Old Folks at Home" immortalized his name as a deathless composer of American song.

Foster spent the last four years of his life in New York City. With the exception of a few years at college and a sojourn in Cincinnati, the rest of his life was spent at Pittsburg without seeing the southern scenes which his songs made famous.

Atta Turk—On November 25, 1934, the Grand National Assembly of Turkey voted a special law to bestow the family name and title of "Atta Turk" upon Ghazi Mustafa Kemal, the President of Turkey. "Atta" which means "Chief" or "First" in Turkish is also a slangy American exclamation of admiration.

MAROONS AND CANADIENS BATTLE TO DEADLOCK

Cude Sensational In Habitants' Net In Overtime Match

Turns In Great Performance as Frenchmen Gain 2-2 Draw With Intra-City Rivals—Rangers Handed One-Sided Setback by Detroit, 6-1—Eagles Defeat Amerks, 3-2

MONTREAL, March 7 (CP).—Shots Stopped—Cude, 35; Connell, 15.

Wilt Cude, of Winnipeg, gave a sensational display in the nets as Montreal Canadiens held their intra-city rivals, Maroons, to a 2-2 overtime tie here tonight. The draw left Canadiens' superiority in the season over Maroons clear-cut despite the much higher standing of Tommy Gorman's team in the International Hockey League.

In the six games between the clubs this year Maroons have been able to come out ahead only once.

The little Winnipeg Weisman made thirty-five saves during the seventy minutes of hockey, most of them from within scoring range, while Alex Connell in the Maroon nets was called on for only fifteen stops.

Wentworth scored twice in the first period for Maroons and Willard Larochelle replied with a Canadian goal before the period ended.

Midway through the second frame Aurel Joliat tied the score on a pass from Sylvio Mantha, and Russ Blinco again put Maroons ahead, covering Herb Cain's pass for a goal.

The third and overtime periods were scoreless.

Summary
First Period—1, Maroons, Wentworth (Smith), 11:37; 2, Canadiens, Larochelle (Lepine), 13:50. Penalties: "Crutchfield, Evans, Shields, Carson.

Second Period—3, Canadiens, Joliat (S. Mantha), 11:33; 4, Maroons, Blinco (Cain), 11:57.

Third Period—No score. Penalties: Ward, Crutchfield.

Overtime Period—No score. Penalties: Shields (major), Jenkins (minor).

Beavers' Protest Is Disallowed By Appeal Board

LOGGED by the Beavers' Intermediate "B" Boys' Basketball Club management, a protest claiming that two members of the Chinese Students' quintette were over age, was yesterday evening disallowed by the appeal committee of the Sunday School Basketball League. The board admitted that the evidence warranted a protest, but as protesting club was unable to show proof of the fact that the boys were over age the committee threw out the protest. A recommendation that an outright registration system for the registration of Chinese players be adopted, based on the Canadian vital statistics, showing both Canadian and Chinese names, was brought in by the board. At a meeting of the Sunday School Basketball League, the executive decided to order the second game between the Beavers and the Chinese Students replayed, and will ask that the Victoria and District Basketball League stage the fixture. In the initial game, the Students gained a fourteen-point lead and will take this into the second and final game, if and when it is played.

DECISION IS SETTLED BY THE CAMERA

Electric Decides Great Finish at Santa Anita Race Track

LOS ANGELES, March 7 (AP).—The judges had to call on the electric camera today to decide that Vanita, Mrs. E. A. Cross's three-year-old filly, won the Valley Hunt Club $1,000 Handicap in the mud at Santa Anita Park today.

In a shower of mud, Vanita and Watonga splashed their way, nose and nose under the wire, but W. P. Axton's chestnut colt, had ridden, failed by inches. The winner's time was 1:40.2-5 for the mile, paying $6.80, $3.40 and $2.00 on pari-mutuel tickets.

In spite of a heavy morning rain and occasional showers the afternoon more than ten thousand persons were on hand for today's programme, which started off with Linole, a superior mudder, a surprise victor in the first to pay $12.50. Then Orta came along to win the second, a four-furlong maiden event, to pay $10.40, top figures of the day.

Results follow:
First Race—Six furlongs: Linole (Neves) ..... 112.60 57.20 33.40
Cap. E. (Richards) ..... 4.80 2.80
Takaia (Ray) ..... 2.80
Time, 1:14 2-5. Also ran: Pavean, Barbara Lee, Anapola, Snookie Shot.

To Swim Here Tomorrow

Canada's swimming star at the British Empire Games and the Dominion's outstanding woman athlete during 1934, who will make her debut before Victoria fans tomorrow evening at the British Columbia championship swimming gala carded at the Crystal Garden. The former Moose Jaw mermaid, will swim in an exhibition race as she is unable to compete in the provincial title events. Residential clauses governing competition in such meets will prohibit Miss Dewar from swimming in the championship races. The appearance here of this outstanding athlete will create added interest in the event. However, there will be a special fifty-yard open event on the programme, and Miss Dewar is almost sure to face the starter, local officials stated.

STEVE HAMAS SHOWS CLASS

American Displays Hitting Power and Is Ready for Big Bout

HAMBURG, March 7 (AP).—When Max Schmeling, the former world's heavyweight champion, encounters Steve Hamas, former Penn State College athlete, in their ten-round heavyweight battle Sunday, he may have his work cut out for him keeping away from a barrage of heavy punches.

Topping off his training exercises yesterday, the American youngster displayed unexpected hitting power as he battered three sparring partners in two-round sessions.

Schmeling concentrated on speed and footwork in two fast rounds of sparring, but he uncorked a few devastating punches that promised no good for the American.

Canadian Buys Candidate for Grand National

LONDON, March 7 (CP).—The first Canadian challenge in the ninety-eight year history of the Grand National, greatest of steeplechases, will be made on March 29 by Gordon Foxbar Perry, prominent Toronto industrial leader.

Mr. Perry has purchased the eleven-year-old Trocadero from Viscount Max de Rivaud, well-known French turfman.

He has engaged the veteran Ted Cullinan to ride the horse in the next renewal of the grueling four and one-half-mile event at Aintree.

Trocadero, a steady goer, was seventh in the Grand National two years ago.

Mr. Perry is chairman of the English Electric Company of Canada.

FINANCE - COMMERCE - MARKETS

Leading Stocks Gain Slightly at New York Mart

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP).—Financial markets today dug in their heels and stopped yesterday's slide, but their progress back up the hill was only modest. Gains, with a few exceptions, were fractional.

Yesterday's wave of inflation psychology passed and there was a return to the general disposition to take a sideline position on the part of many traders. Volume sank to 536,303 shares.

Among the few leaders able to advance a point or a little more were American Telephone at 106 and Sears Roebuck at 31-1/2. Most of the rises were limited to minor fractions to 3-4 of a point or so. In this class were United States Steel at 31-1/4, American Smelting at 35, Santa Fe at 39-1/4, Chrysler at 34-1/4, General Electric at 34-1/4, Southern Pacific at 14-1/4, and Union Carbide at 47-3/4.

The downward trend of United States Government securities was resumed in today's bond market. Most Federals were down from 2-32 to 13-32 of a point.

Foreign obligations were off.

MEDIUM-PRICE GOLDS ADVANCE

General Firming Results at Toronto — Silvers and Base Metals Gain

TORONTO, March 7 (CP).—Activity in McWatters and Central Patricia gave strong leadership to the medium-price group on the mining list of the Toronto Exchange today and a general firming of prices resulted. The market closed with a narrow gain.

Lakeshore gained 75c, Wright-Hargreaves, Hollinger and Pioneer 10 each, while Dome lost 25, Teck-Hughes 14 and Bralorne closed unchanged. McWatters closed at 197 for a gain of 12c. Central Patricia gained 5 to 154. Smaller advances were recorded for Canadian Malartic, Cariboo, Conlarum, God's Lake, Greene Stabell, Macassa and Sullivan.

Wayside and J. M. Consolidated each advanced 11-1/2. Silver and base metal stocks edged higher for Noranda, Sudbury Basin, Eldorado and Nipissing.

WHEAT GAINS AT WINNIPEG

Futures Advance Despite Lack of Export Buying — Chicago Higher

WINNIPEG, March 7 (CP).—A falling-off in foreign demand for Canadian wheat was not seriously regarded on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Prices sustained by an advance at Chicago, closed 1-4 to 1-8 cent higher.

Wednesday's purchases of 800,000 bushels of wheat filled the immediate requirements of importers, and no sales were reported today. Despite this, values were firm throughout the session. May closing at 83-1/2 and July 83-3/4 cents.

ASTROLOGY
Strangely, astrology is considered seriously by a great many people as a science—the science of foretelling, by means of the constellations, the future of nations and individuals.

Originally, among the ancients, astrology was synonymous with astronomy, which is, of course, a real science. Then astrology assumed the personal aspect and it came to be practised by charlatans—self-appointed prophets and seers, and many others of questionable repute. The word comes honestly by its association with the heavens and planetary bodies, it being composed of two Greek words meaning to discourse on the stars.

Visitors to the house in the daytime made so much noise that the night nurse could not get sufficient rest to prepare her for her work.

One day she happened to mention this to the doctor, who wrote a large notice with the words: "Please remember the night nurse" and placed it on the hall table.

Next evening when she came on duty, she found beneath the notice a shilling, a sixpence, and a few copper-

COUNCIL MEETS AT LADYSMITH

By-Law for Regulating Second-hand Stores Considered—Other Matters Debated

LADYSMITH, March 7.—The by-law regulating second-hand stores in the city was read and considered in committee at last evening's meeting of the City Council. The by-law will be finally passed at the next meeting. Some years ago a by-law of the same nature was adopted, but failure to register rendered it inoperative.

Councilman municipality submitted a resolution dealing with relief costs for endorsement. The Fraser Valley municipality pointed out that the provision of relief percentages by cities and organized districts was making for inevitable bankruptcy of municipal areas, and favored the idea of the Federal Government taking over all relief costs to take care of the situation. The City Council endorsed the resolution.

LIBRARY DEMONSTRATION
Dr. Helen G. Stewart, of the public library commission, wrote notifying the council that the commission had decided to stage a local demonstration of the benefits of a regional public library for the island. The response from Ladysmith had proved extremely gratifying, and she suggested that perhaps the council and other bodies interested could nominate local representatives for the Central Library Council. The names of Miss B. Tranfield and E. Akenhead were mentioned in this connection by the council.

A communication from the commissioner of customs was received, stating that, in response to a request from the city, the department was considering the advisability of appointing a customs representative for the port of Ladysmith.

A lone offer was considered for the wrecking of the Portland Hotel, which the council recently decided was becoming unsightly. The tender was not considered satisfactory and was refused. It was suggested that the board of works committee of the council might undertake the job, but the matter was finally left over for one month before definite action would be taken by the committee.

FOR LATER DISCUSSION
The recent proposal of the Board of Trade that the city should approach the shareholders of Arcady, the scenic reserve near the town, with a view to procuring a lease of the property in connection with the plans for making the city environs more attractive for tourists, was discussed. Some of the aldermen were of the opinion that there existed sufficient work for two years for the city unemployed within the city limits, without the need of taking in other areas. Arrangements will be made, however, to have the matter discussed with the owners of Arcady later.

Past driving through First Avenue while the street is busy on Saturday evenings is becoming a menace to safety, and the police will be asked to impose strictures on the offenders.

Cow-Testing Results
Following is a list of cows in the Vancouver Island Cow-Testing Association that gave fifty pounds or more of butterfat for February:
(120) Beattie, Jersey grade; 840 lbs. milk; 50.4 lbs. fat; Burdge & Swan, owner.

MAKING PLANS TO BUILD GYMNASIUM
DUNCAN, March 7.—At a meeting of the Duncan Consolidated School Board, held on Wednesday night, Trustee J. L. Maitland presented a report from the Duncan gymnasium committee, formed through the efforts of the Parent-Teacher Association. Plans drawn by Douglas James, architect, call for a building 28,444 feet, with a full basement, which could be built at a cost of $4,000. The board was asked for permission to erect such a building on school property, which, when handed over, paid for and equipped, should be maintained by the board. This was agreed to. A grant will be obtainable from the Department of Education if the building is under the control of the board.

In committee of the whole, the case of indigent parents unable to pay high school fees was considered and, in case of proven inability to pay, the fees will be remitted.

HOLDING HOUSE MEETING
"Fear and Moral Force" is the subject of a talk to be given at a house meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. J. Bonavia, 1351 Vining Street, Tuesday at 8:45 p.m. Discussion will follow the address to be given by W. B. Pease. The affair is under the auspices of the local Anti-Vivisection Society, and members and friends are invited to be present.

FOUND DEAD IN LONDON
LONDON, March 7 (CP-Havas).—A coroner's jury today decided no inquest was necessary on death of William Hector Hume, aged sixty-nine, a Canadian journalist, found dead yesterday in a room in a hotel here. The jury decided that death had resulted from heart disease.

DIED AFTER INJURIES
DUNCAN, March 7.—John Veraga, an employee of Camp 6, Lake Cowichan, who was injured at the lake yesterday, died at an early hour this morning at the King's Daughters' Hospital. No particulars were obtainable of Mr. Veraga today. An inquest will be held at 1:30 on Saturday afternoon at the Whidden Undertaking Parlor.

TEMPER RUINS HAIR
TORONTO, March 7 (CP).—If you want to have good hair keep your temper in check was W. T. Pember's advice to the Ladies' Hairdressers' Association yesterday. "Envy, hatred and fits of anger are detrimental to the human system and to the health of the hair," he said.
